SC sets highest bar on negligence in NEET-UG exam

Asks NTA to take action if there is 0.001% chance of malpractice in holding the test

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday pressed the National Testing Agency (NTA) to proactively take remedial action if there was even 0.001% chance of negligence in conducting the NEET-UG examination.

"As an agency, you must act fair. If there is a mistake, say yes, this is a mistake. If there is 0.001% negligence on the part of anyone, it should be thoroughly dealt with... We need timely action from you," a two-judge vacation bench of justices Vikram Nath and S V N Bhatti said.

Observing that students have to labour hard while preparing for these examinations, the court said the litigation pertaining to the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (Undergraduate) -2024 must not be treated as adversarial.

"We all know the labour which the children undergo, especially in preparing for these exams," the bench said, adding, "Imagine a person who has played fraud on the system becomes a doctor, he is more deleterious to the society."

The bench was hearing two petitions against awarding grace marks given to students in the examination held on May 5 besides other malpractices. It sought a detailed response from the NTA and the Centre and told the petitioners they can argue their case on July 8, the next date of hearing. There have also been allegations of question paper leaks in states like Bihar, which led to protests in several cities and petitions in various courts.

Advocate Kanu Agrawal, appearing for the Union, said "let no opinion be formed till we file a counter." Agarwal added that the NTA's recent decision to revoke the grace marks to 1,563 students indicated it was responsive to the concerns of candidates. That decision was taken after an expert committee found flaws in the modus of awarding grace marks.

The NEET-UG examination is conducted by the NTA for admissions to MBBS, BDS, AYUSH and other related courses in government and private institutions across the country. Around 24 lakh candidates took the exam on May 5 in 4,750 centres across the country.

RBI MULLS BETTER INSURANCE COVERAGE FOR GREEN DEPOSITS

BEN KOCHUVEEDAN @Mumbai

WITH climate change emerging as an overarching risk to the global economy as well as financial systems, the Reserve Bank of India is exploring adequate insurance coverage for green deposits, deputy governor Michael Patra said.

"We are exploring appropriate coverage for green deposits, climate-risk based differential premiums and ex-ante funding needs for climate sustainability," Patra told the 79th executive committee meeting of the International Association of Deposit Insurers in Rome over the weekend. While Patra did not elaborate on RBI's plans, the move is expected to bring more funds to environment-friendly projects.

Patra urged deposit insurers to brace for more complex challenges amidst the heightened uncertainty especially from the impact of climate change. "New challenges arising from climate changes will inevitably require effective coordination and information sharing between domestic insurers and other national safety net participants as well as with those in other jurisdictions," Patra said.

RBI had issued the framework for green deposits in April 2023, with the broad objective to develop a green finance ecosystem. Under the framework, regulated entities can offer green deposits to customers and boost the sustainability agenda, address 'green-washing' (false claims on sustainability), and help increase the flow of funds to green projects.

Deposit insurance is mandatory for all the banks in India, including foreign banks. However, insurance coverage is a sticky issue.

The Deposit Insurance and Credit Guarantee Corporation of India, an RBI subsidiary, covers deposits only up to ₹5 lakh. It steps in, in the event of a bank collapse.

KIOCL mining aimed at creating more jobs: HDK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

UNION Minister for Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy on Tuesday allayed fears of deforestation if Kudremukh Iron Ore Company Ltd (KIOCL) starts mining at Devadari in Sandur taluk of Ballari district and said the aim is to create more jobs for the youth. Steps will be taken to increase green cover in the region.

"I did not sign for deforestation. The state should produce quality steel through which more jobs must be created for our youth. Permission for mining has been granted with the sole aim of contributing more to GDP based on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's Atmanirbhar Bharat programme. Steps have been taken to save the forests," he told reporters after holding a meeting with KIOCL officials.

"A campaign has been launched against mining to create anxiety and confusion among the people. In 2019, the state government gave permission for mining at Devadari. Later, the environment department of the Union government gave its approval," he said.

Kumaraswamy clarified that there is no need to worry about mining by KIOCL at Devadari. "There are reports that 99,000 trees will be felled. KIOCL will raise a forest in the region at a cost of Rs 194 crore before starting mining. The money will be paid to the forest department," he said.

Residents of Bagalagunte area now get water once a week for only 45 minutes

Despite rain, water woes continue in Bagalagunte

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DESPITE the onset of monsoon, the problem of water scarcity continues to plague the city, with residents of Bagalagunte voicing concerns over the reduced supply of Cauvery water and lack of borewell connections in the area, which exacerbates their dependency on water tankers.

Residents in Byraveshwara Nagar said there has been no Cauvery water supply, and that despite the rain, the water flow situation remains stagnant and dire.

BG Basavaraj, a resident of Andanappa Layout in Byraveshwara Nagar, said previously, about 50-70 households received water twice a week for three hours each time. "Now, the water supply in the areas, including Peenya, Dasarahalli, Manjunathnagar and Bagalagunte, has dropped to once a week for only 45 minutes. This drastic reduction has forced residents to rely on water tankers, which often require a 12-hour wait after booking," he said.

Ramakrishna, another resident, lamented that there is zero improvement of water supply, forcing each household in the area to spend approximately Rs 1,000 per week for a 6,000-litre tanker load. Even the free water supply which started when the summer began has ceased now.

In response, Nagaraj, Assistant Executive Engineer of North West-3, Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB), explained that the BWSSB is currently working on the Cauvery Stage 5 water connection. "Engineers identified an obstruction caused by the existing pipeline, necessitating work on a U-shaped pipeline. This work has temporarily reduced the water supply," Nagaraj said and maintained that the issue would be resolved soon.

The BWSSB has faced criticism for failing to address the water shortage problem during the summer, and residents warned that they would protest against the authorities if the issue is not resolved at the earliest, highlighting that their earnings are going on paying for the tankers.

HC NOD TO BTC FOR RACES, BETTING

Court stays state govt order, gives it liberty to regulate activities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

STAYING the order passed by the state government, the Karnataka High Court on Tuesday permitted the Bengaluru Turf Club (BTC) to conduct all on-course and off-course racing and betting activities by adhering to the terms and conditions.

The government had passed the order rejecting the application filed by the BTC seeking licence to conduct races and betting activities from June to August 2024.

Passing an interim order subject to the final outcome of the petitions challenging the rejection of the licence considering alleged irregularities in BTC, Justice S R Krishna Kumar gave liberty to the state government to monitor, supervise and regulate racing and betting activities of the BTC.

The interim order was passed after hearing a batch of petitions filed by the BTC, Karnataka Racehorse Owners' Association, Karnataka Trainers' Association and Punters and Jockeys Associations questioning the order passed by the Additional Chief Secretary, Home Department, rejecting their application on June 6.

"It is relevant to note that by virtue of the impugned orders, the entire racing and betting activities of the petitioners, which were hitherto being carried on continuously for decades, has now come to a complete standstill resulting in irreparable hardship not only to the petitioners but also to the race horses who are lying idle without their regular racing activity, which would cause ailments, diseases etc.. This is sufficient to indicate that the balance of convenience is in favour of the petitioners," the court observed.

The court, however, said it is significant to note that the majority of the allegations contained in the impugned orders are made against bookmakers, both licensed and unlicensed. The BTC has undertaken to cancel all bookmaker licences and not grant any more licences, the court added.

The application filed by the BTC under Rule 3 of the Mysore Race Course Licensing Rules, 1952, for seeking license to hold a race from June to August 2024 was rejected by the state government for allegedly violating the condition of the licence, rules and statutes, and illegal betting, constituting criminal activity in the premises of BTC.

In the order of rejection, the state government recorded that there were serious violations of the conditions of the licence, applicable statutes, and rules. Further, an investigation by the CCB is still pending and an investigation from the competent tax authority is necessary to quantify the tax evasion as well as recovery of evaded tax, along with applicable penalty, the state government stated in the order.

New urban plan: 15-min neighbourhoods

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

WITH extreme urbanisation, houses, buildings and apartment complexes forgetting the need for neighbourhoods that integrate sustainable mobility, public transit network, and open or recreational spaces. To address this, Mercedes-Benz Research and Development India has launched design guidelines for 'Building 15-Minute Neighbourhoods' in partnership with Jana Urban Space Foundation, for sustainable urban planning in India. The pilot model will be developed for the Nallurhalli neighbourhood in Bengaluru.

The guidelines, along with an implementation toolkit, highlight key strategies that cities can employ to facilitate a 15-minute neighbourhood, where most amenities are accessible within a 15-minute walk or cycle ride. The model focuses on people-centric, low-carbon cities along with good quality of life, by promoting high-quality pedestrian and public transport systems, safe public spaces and inclusive social infrastructure.

The document features case studies and surveys conducted across four select neighbourhoods in Bengaluru – Whitefield, Malleswaram, Indiranagar and Chickpet – to support the suggested strategies.

Additional Chief Secretary, UDD, said, "Rather than relying on a broad, one-size-fits-all approach, it is crucial to tailor solutions to each neighbourhood's unique needs and characteristics. The pressure of rapid development is felt in the city's living conditions, in addition to its impact on the natural resources and ecology."

The project has been developed following extensive research to evaluate existing services such as mobility infrastructure, public transport, and green spaces, with a focus on walkability, safety, and accessibility. Researchers also included the 'Move-Play-Sustain-Include' framework, designed to create accessible and vibrant communities.

Nithya Ramesh, Director, Jana Urban Space Foundation said, "For most people, their first memories of a city are tied to their street and neighbourhood before the city as a whole. In cities like Bengaluru, which has been navigating the gap between masterplans, there's a unique opportunity to emphasise communities and neighbourhoods as foundational elements of urban development. This approach is central to our 15-minute neighbourhood programme, which aims to use communities as the building blocks for creating better cities, enhancing quality of life, and fostering a sense of belonging. Through the 15-minute neighbourhoods, we aim to bring people back into the planning process."

THE recent drive by the India Post Karnataka Circle to enrol more people under its personal accident scheme has received an overwhelming response. An average of 5,000 people have been registering daily for the scheme through the the post's digital banking arm -- India Post Payments Bank (IPPB).

The 'Group Personal Accident Guard' drive is an aggressive campaign to popularise the scheme. It is mandatory to have an IPPB account.

Chief Postmaster General, Karnataka Circle, S Rajendra Kumar said, "The scheme is available at all post offices in the state and can also be availed at the doorstep through the postman." He said a minimum premium of Rs 520 per annum is being charged for the Rs 10-lakh accidental insurance coverage and Rs 749 per annum for a coverage of Rs 15 lakh."

TATA AIG, Aditya Birla Life Insurance and Bajaj Insurance are partners. This financial year, more than 20,000 people have registered, he added. Since its inception, 4.5 lakh people have registered for it in Karnataka. "We have processed 66 death claims and settled 256 medical reimbursement cases so far," the CPMG informed.

The numbers are only increasing with every passing day, the CPMG said. "On Thursday alone (June 12), 6,531 individuals had registered while on Friday (June 14), 12,186 have opted for it," he said. The scheme will get auto renewed annually.

IISc researchers studying string theory find new formula for pi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

INDIAN Institute of Science (IISc) researchers have accidentally stumbled upon a new finding -- a new series of representing the age-old mathematical formula of pi.

While investigating how string theory can be used to explain certain physical phenomena, they found a new series representation for the irrational number pi.

Aninda Sinha, Professor at the Centre for High Energy Physics, IISc, one of the researchers of the study, told The New Indian Express that the new formula is different from the ones taught in schools and colleges. The formula taught then has a never ending series of digits.

He added that there have been many derivations of formulae over time. The formula the team has found is close to what was found by Indian mathematician Sangamagrama Madhava, which was written in the 15th century, in a poetic language.

It is now universally accepted, and was the first ever series of pi recorded in history.

Arnab Sinha was also a part of the new study at IISc, which is now published in Physical Review Letters. Sinha said they were studying high energy physics in quantum theory and were working on developing a new model on how particles interacted and their accurate parameters. A new model was being developed when this finding happened.

A release from IISc said researchers were interested in string theory – the theoretical framework that presumes that all quantum processes in nature simply use different modes of vibrations plucked on a string. Their work was focused on how high energy particles interact with each other, such as protons smashing together.

What the team found was not only an efficient model that could explain particle interaction, but also a series representation of pi. In mathematics, a series is used to represent a parameter such as pi in its component form. Pi can be represented as a combination of many numbers of parameters (or ingredients). Finding the correct number and combination of the parameters to reach close to its exact value has always been challenging. The series found by IISc researchers combines specific parameters in such a way that scientists can rapidly arrive at the value of pi, which can then be incorporated in calculations, like those involved in deciphering scattering of high-energy particles, the release said.

Sinha said though the findings are theoretical at the moment, it is not impossible that they may lead to practical applications in future. "Doing this kind of work, although it may not see immediate application in daily life, gives the pure pleasure of doing theory for the sake of doing it," Sinha added.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
The Moon is now at a pleasantly supportive phase of its twenty-eight day cycle, heightening your feelings and emphasising your emotions. It would be a good move indeed if you could tune in to this deep aspect of your nature, through the month as a whole.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
How about allowing yourself to relax now that the pressure seems to have eased up a little? But you should work to heal those wounds which have been re-opened by recent arguments. Joint finances move up the agenda, so if you do have a chance to harass the bank manager, you may well have a surprise success.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
For once everything seems to be going your way. At least, that is the message coming over loud and clear from a planetary picture which has your best interests at heart. Deal with money sooner rather than later and get the most out of a professional opportunity.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
For as long as the Moon exerts its emotional sway over your money, even indirectly, you will feel slightly sensitive about financial issues. Is it that you consider you may have let a friend down by not paying your way? You're still too busy but, then, what's new!

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
A domestic matter or family complication has certainly been giving you sleepless nights lately. Perhaps you have been trying to hang on to a mythical past which other people have now abandoned. If, by any chance, partners are still confused, have another go at enlightening them.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
There is absolutely no reason why you should agree to force the pace or consent to proposals which are frankly not in your best interests. Bide your time if this is what you feel is best for now. You should catch up with a family relationship and restore a favourite bond.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You really must learn to listen to what partners are saying and doing. Sometimes it's not even enough to listen to their wise words - you should take their advice as well. And that might mean swallowing humble pie! You can put financial plans on the back-burner.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
If people have been challenging your authority at home or at work, then this is largely because you have let both them and yourself down. There is every reason for you to try and re-establish your position as soon as possible, whatever partners say.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Seeing that today's lunar alignment gives you total control at home, the time is fast approaching when a major reorganisation of your financial life must take place. Events which occur now, will make or break your economic situation for months to come.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Upsetting or challenging circumstances play a familiar part in your life, so much so, in fact, that you take them for granted. Yet you must realise that the key to success lies almost entirely within your own hands. Once you've understood that simple truth, you'll be set on the road to good fortune.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
The Sun's relationship with Saturn implies that self-discipline is essential, if you are to accomplish tasks which express your creative nature. Look for avenues which will enhance your freedom and set a course for the next six or seven months - at least.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
It's one of those mysterious days when nothing seems to work out quite as anticipated. Perhaps this is because your expectations were unrealistic in the first place, but what transpires will be enjoyable in any case. Financially, focus on saving rather than spending.

EVMs helped BJP-JDS get more seats in state: DKS

Says probe must be conducted, ballot papers must be brought back

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ALLEGING that Electronic Voting Machines (EVM) played a role in the BJP-JDS alliance securing higher-than-expected seats in Karnataka, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Tuesday demanded an investigation into the functioning of EVMs.

He said, “EVMs must go. Ballot boxes must return. The results must be investigated. When ballot boxes were there, Congress used to get two-third votes in Madhya Pradesh. But the situation has changed now. The results have already come, but fresh thinking is needed.”

On elections to the Bruhat Bangalore Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) on London model, he said, “I don’t know about London model but BBMP elections will be held soon.”

On government’s plans to sell 20,000 acres of land around Bengaluru, he said, “Not true. The government doesn’t have so much land around Bengaluru. In fact, we are looking at acquiring lands for the Peripheral Ring Road. It will be done on a 60/40 ratio.” On the implementation of the five guarantees, he said, “The Guarantee Implementation Committees were formed sometime back but many office-bearers could not assume office due to elections. Senior leader G Krishnappa is heading the committee in Bengaluru. All vacant positions would be filled in the next 15 days.”

₹1L for all taluks for Kempegowda Jayanti

Shivakumar said Rs 1 lakh will be given to celebrate Kempegowda Jayanti in all taluks. Each Assembly constituency will be allocated Rs 1 lakh to conduct symposiums on Kempegowda for school students. After chairing a meeting on the celebration of 515th Kempegowda Jayanti on June 27 in Bengaluru, he said, “Bengaluru has grown three or four times surpassing the towers built by Kempegowda. The birth anniversary of the great man should be celebrated and not restricted to one community.”

He said the Kempegowda award selection committee is headed by senior Congress leader BL Shankar and the award will be jointly given by the Kannada and Culture Department, Bangalore Development Authority and BBMP.

An action plan has been prepared to develop Kempegowda’s tomb and fort into tourist destinations. Ten acres have been allotted to develop Kempegowda’s birthplace in Devanahalli and 5 acres near Summanahalli to set up the Kempegowda Authority office. On inviting the Kannada Sahitya Academy chairman to a meeting at the KPCC office, he said, “There is no rule that litterateurs can’t become politicians. I called him for the meeting. It is not wrong as they are appointed by the government.”

HDK defends allowing mining in Sandur forest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Hubballi

UNION Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel HD Kumaraswamy on Tuesday defended allowing restarting of mining activities in the Sandur forest area. He said that to compensate for deforestation of 404 hectares of land identified for mining in the forest, a proposal has been presented before the forest department to afforest 808 hectares.

He said the Union government approved the proposal sent by the state government in 2016. The state government had allowed a request made by Kudremukh Iron Ore Company Ltd (KIOCL) as mining activities were halted at Kudremukh in 2005. A lot of consultation and deliberations were held between the state and central governments before deciding on the project, he added.

Appealing to environmentalists and nature lovers not to oppose the project, he said KIOCL has already deposited Rs 194 crore with the forest department for afforestation activities on an alternative piece of land. On media reports about felling of 99,000 trees, he said there is no clear information on it.

Moreover, trees in 404 hectares of forest area will not be felled in one year as the project period is 40-50 years and the trees will be felled in phases. The entire forest will not be erased at one go. The state government should take action to afforest alternative land and protect biodiversity, he suggested.

‘Learning on the job’

On the portfolios allotted to him, the JDS leader said Prime Minister Narendra Modi had entrusted him with two important ministries, heavy industries and steel, which play a major role in employment generation and the growth of the country’s economy. But he is still trying to learn the functioning of the ministries, he added.

Though he has administrative experience as a chief minister, the administration in the central ministry is different. He has been studying the positives and negatives in the ministries to frame clear policies and programmes and will soon inform people about them, he added. He sought a month for a response on Mahadayi and Upper Bhadra projects.

On the fuel price hike by the state government, he said this shows the pathetic financial state of the government. Industry Minister MB Patil himself has said the fuel price has been increased to generate resources for the guarantees. Then, what is the use of offering guarantees to people and snatching money from them, he lambasted.

MB PATIL TO MEET HDK OVER SETTING UP CHIP UNIT

Large and Medium Industries Minister MB Patil on Tuesday said he is planning to meet Union Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel HD Kumaraswamy to discuss setting up a semiconductor unit in Karnataka. Patil said the US-based Micron Technology received a 70% incentive for their project in PM Narendra Modi’s home state of Gujarat, with 50% coming from the Centre and 20% from the state. He stressed on the need for similar support for Karnataka to foster the semiconductor sector.

Min: Adopt new tech to produce specialty steel

“DEVADARI Yojana is on the prime minister’s agenda for the first 100 days of governance for which we should work diligently. Mining should be started as soon as possible,” Kumaraswamy said.

Kumaraswamy also held discussions with the officials on the revival of Visvesvaraya Iron and Steel Ltd., at Bhadravathi. Pay more attention to specialty steel production to face competition from China, Taiwan and South Korea. Go for new technologies for production of specialty steel, he told them.

He said, “Modi’s dream is to make India self-reliant in the semiconductor sector. The statement made by me was not understood correctly,” he said in response to Industries Minister MB Patil’s statement that Kumaraswamy made a U-turn.

Patil had posted on ‘X’ stating Kumaraswamy is right in questioning that it is not fair to give Rs 3.2 crore incentive for every job created by Micron Technology in Gujarat. But Kumaraswamy retracted his statement. “Micron Company, an American-based semiconductor manufacturing company, has received 50 percent incentive from the Centre and 20 percent from Gujarat government. While it will invest only 30 percent. Since HD Kumaraswamy is from our state, I would like to meet him and urge him to encourage our semiconductor companies the same way as Gujarat,” Patil posted on ‘X’ on Tuesday.

KIOCL Chairman and Managing Director (CMD) Ganti Venkata Kiran made a presentation.

NIA arrests terror suspect from Banavasi

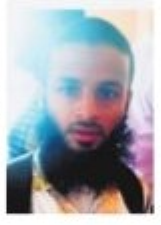
@ Banavasi (Uttara Kannada)

NIA sleuths arrested a terror suspect from Dasana Koppa village in Banavasi taluk for allegedly instigating the suspects involved in the Mangaluru cooker blast, Bengaluru Rameshwaram cafe explosion and Shivamogga mosque blast.

The suspect, 32-year-old Abdul Shakoor, was picked up after raids at several places in Sirsi and Banavasi.



Shakoor, who hails from Dasana Koppa village, works in Dubai and is allegedly a member of the banned Popular Front of India. He had come home to celebrate Bakrid when the National Investigation Agency picked him up.

Sources said Shakoor has links with many terror organisations and keeps in touch with them online. “He has a passport, which he has obtained by furnishing false documents. We are probing that angle too,” the source added.

Shakoor, who was a sort of a moulvi, had visited Thirthalli in 2018-19, and that was when he met the prime accused in Mangaluru cooker, Rameshwaram cafe and Shivamogga mosque blasts.

The police said he has not studied beyond school. He has a business in Dubai, dealing with kitchen items, air-conditioners and metals.

The NIA has taken him to an undisclosed location.

BHAVANI GETS ANTICIPATORY BAIL IN KIDNAP CASE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday granted anticipatory bail to Bhavani Revanna, an accused in the kidnap of a victim of sexual assault allegedly involving her son, former MP Prajwal Revanna. Justice Krishna S Dixit pronounced the order while allowing her petition for 12 reasons, and continued the conditions imposed while granting interim anticipatory bail on June 7.

Noting that it is difficult to agree with the contention of the Special Public Prosecutor (SPP) that the accused has not cooperated in the investigation, despite the grant of interim anticipatory bail which stipulates the condition of cooperation, the court said she appeared before the Special Investigation Team (SIT) and answered 80 questions. Police cannot insist that an accused should give answers in the way the police desire, the court added.

The SPP contended that the accused had not prevented her son from sexually abusing several women and fleeing the country, therefore, she should not be granted bail; the court said this argument is too farfetched. “The son has been taken into custody by the police and what duty a mother owes in law to prevent her major children from committing offences? Also, she is not an abettor in the cases registered against her son, and sexual abuses that happened on the property belonging to the petitioner can only be a poor factor to decide anticipatory bail,” the court said.

The SPP’s contention that the petitioner hails from a political background cannot be disputed, but is not a sole consideration for denying bail, especially when the petitioner is a married woman. Displacement of women even for a short period disturbs the dependents, and hence women by their very nature deserve preferential treatment in matters of bail, the court observed.

Pointing out that the name of the petitioner is not found in the FIR, the court said the SPP argued that no relief can be granted to her since she is the ‘kingpin’ of the entire episode. Opposing it, senior counsel of the petitioner contended that there is no allegation or material to implicate her in the offence punishable under Section 364A of IPC. No assumption can be made against a petitioner who is also not named by the victim in Sections 161 and 164 of CrPC statements, the court said.

Prajwal remanded in judicial custody till July 2

BENGALURU: The Special Court for trial of cases against sitting and former MPs and MLAs on Tuesday remanded former Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna in judicial custody. The Special Investigation Team (SIT) probing rape cases against the former MP, who was lodged in the Bengaluru Central Prison at Parappana Agrahara, had taken him into custody on June 12 in connection with a rape case registered at the Cyber Crime Police Station. As his custody ended on Tuesday, he was produced before Special Court judge KN Shivakumar, who remanded him in judicial custody until July 2, as the SIT did not seek extension of his police custody. Prajwal, during the hearing, complained to the court that the SIT officers did not look after him properly, and also that they did not give proper attention to his health issues. Meanwhile, a source said that Prajwal might be taken into police custody again in connection with another case. ENS

Norms to be laid out for guarantees panel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah, who claimed to have committed to implement the five guarantees of the Congress-led state government effectively with an annual budgetary allocation of Rs 60,000 crore, held a crucial meeting with the implementation committee chairman HM Revanna on Tuesday. The terms of reference will be laid down with a head of accounts for the committee under the women and child welfare department to ensure that the office-bearers get the benefits, including the office set-up, salaries and car.

Siddaramaiah promised all help to the committee, including the facilities such as the official car for the chairman, besides an office in the state capital. The four vice-chairpersons of the committee will also get offices. At the district level, the offices will be set up at the Zilla Panchayat. This means that the guarantees will continue until the Congress government’s tenure, regardless of the electoral performance of the Congress party. In fact, Siddaramaiah on Monday claimed that the vote share for the party has increased from 32 per cent in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, to 45 per cent in 2024, as Congress increased its tally from a mere one seat to nine seat, which he indirectly attributed to the guarantees.

“There were no terms and reference for the committee which will now be laid down for effective functioning. The CM is committed to the effective implementation of the guarantees to ensure social justice for the needy, including women and the minority community,” Revanna said.

LONE LANDSLIDE SURVIVOR BECOMES MADIKERI’S PRIDE

PRAJNA GR @ Madikeri

SHE was a lone survivor in her family after a massive landslide razed her home in Madikeri in 2006. She was just 16 then. After years of struggle and through her grit and determination, she has now won a doctorate degree.

Before the tragedy struck, Pallavi lived with her mother and two siblings in a small house at Mangaladevi Nagar in Madikeri. Her mother Radha Bhat was a daily wager. On that fateful night, while they were sleeping, a massive landslide struck Mangaladevi Nagar, killing six people. Among the victims were Radha Bhat, Pallavi’s younger sister Jyothi, 14, and brother Abhishek, 12. Pallavi was the only surviving member.

“I was told about the death of my mother, sister and brother only a month after the tragedy. Initially, I was told that my mother and siblings were seriously injured and were being treated at a hospital in Mangaluru. Their last rites too were conducted without my knowledge. That was devastating,” Pallavi said.

The tragedy took a massive toll on her mental health and she frequently nursed suicidal thoughts. But her mother’s aspirations of her children getting a good education and speaking English kept Pallavi motivated and helped her come up in life.

“My uncle Sundar and aunt Rukmini supported me and inspired me to do well in studies. A handful of friends and a few well-wishers often visited me and kept prepping me up. My hobbies and reading motivational books too helped me overcome the challenges,” she said.

“I aimed to become independent. I had even applied for the civil services examination and Baby Mathew of Madikeri then helped me a lot. I can never forget the contributions of my school teachers, Sister Sicily and Narayan Gowda,” she said.

After the 2006 disaster, the district administration gave her a compensation of Rs 3 lakh. She used it to complete her degree course, but had to apply for a loan to pursue a masters degree in Commerce from Mangaluru University.

She has now been granted a doctorate degree for her thesis, “Bancassurance from an Indian Perspective - A comparative study between banks in Udupi & DK districts “, done under Dr Anasuya Rai’s guidance. Pallavi works as an assistant professor at Jain University.

Police notice to another actor who attended party with Darshan

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

"INVESTIGATIONS into the Renukaswamy murder case would have been hampered even if there was a slight delay or carelessness. Swift and timely action by police officers helped in gathering key evidence in the case," B Dayananda, Bengaluru City Police Commissioner said on Tuesday.

"We will ensure justice to the family of the victim. We will also ensure that the accused involved in the brutal murder are punished. The police have arrested 17 accused so far. It is a heinous crime committed in a horrific manner. We are making all efforts to present evidence and other details in a systematic manner before the court. Support from the media is needed to take the case to its logical end. The investigations have been handed over to an assistant commissioner of police (ACP) rank officer considering the significance and sensitivity of the case. The Vijaynagar subdivision ACP is the investigating officer in the case," he told reporters here.

With the police custody of actor Darshan and the other accused ending on Thursday, their interrogation has been intensified. The accused, who had given electric shocks to the victim, were taken to the shed at Pattanagere in RR Nagar for a spot mazhar. The police are also said to have given notice to another actor who had attended a party at Stonny Brook pub along with Darshan.

The police were supposed to take Darshan for a spot mazhar at Mysuru on Tuesday. After receiving intelligence reports from Mysuru police about a possible law and order situation, the investigating officers are exploring ways to take him there.

Statements of Pattanagere Jayanna, the owner of the plot where the shed has been built, have been recorded. As he has rented the plot to one Sudhakar, the police may soon issue him a notice. The police took Darshan's personal manager Nagaraj and driver Lakshman to Mysuru for a spot mazhar. The police have conducted spot mazhars at nine places so far. One of the accused had made a 30-minute video of the assault on Renukaswamy. This revealed the role of Darshan and Pavithra Gowda in the case.

Meanwhile, Pavitha was taken to a hospital on Tuesday afternoon after she reportedly complained of dizziness. She was administered glucose and brought back to the station.

'Re-investigate Darshan's Anekal farm manager's death'

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE sister of Sridhar, 39, who was found dead in Anekal police limits on April 17, has sought a reinvestigation into his death as he reportedly worked as manager of actor Darshan's 'Durga Farms' in Anekal.

Sridhar's sister Roopa told reporters on Tuesday that a reinvestigation should be conducted into her brother's death. "If we look at the Renukaswamy murder case in which Darshan has been arrested, we suspect foul play in my brother's death," Roopa said.

Sridhar's mother said, "After my son's death, someone gave us Rs 50,000 without saying anything. We took the money. Now, we suspect some foul play in my son's death."

Sridhar was found dead at Bagganadoddy. A bottle containing some chemical was found near his body. He had left behind a suicide note claiming that he was responsible for his death and nobody should be blamed. He had signed the note in Kannada and English and also put his thumb impression on it. He also made a video in which he stated that nobody was responsible for his death. He had also requested the police not to trouble anybody after his death.

Mallikarjun Baldandi, Bengaluru Rural Superintendent of Police, said Anekal police registered a case of unnatural death after preliminary investigations. The death note and Sridhar's mobile phone have been sent to FSL. The police are yet to receive the FSL reports. The case is still under investigation. Sridhar's father had stated that his son was not married and was in depression. He had fought with his parents over a girl, the SP added.

NOW, JAGAN BATS FOR BALLOT PAPERS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Vijayawada

YSRC president and former Andhra Pradesh chief minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy on Tuesday said Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs) should be replaced with ballot papers in elections. His remarks come days after Tesla and SpaceX founder Elon Musk called for the elimination of EVMs.

In a post on X, Jagan posted, "Just as justice should not only be served, but should also appear to have been served, so should democracy not only prevail, but must appear to be prevalent undoubtedly. In electoral practices across the world in almost every advanced democracy, paper ballots are used, not EVMs. We too must move towards the same in upholding the true spirit of our democracy." YSRC secure only 11 of the 175 Assembly and four of the 25 Parliament seats.

His comments drew sharp criticism from the ruling TDP. Taking to X, TDP general secretary Nara Lokesh said, "Let's face it @ysjagan, you're allergic to democracy. You systematically destroyed institutions, systems and practices devoted to protecting people's rights. You struck down in one stroke what the people of AP built collectively over the years. When you won in 2019, EVMs worked beautifully. When you lose in 2024, you blame the EVMs. Such hypocrisy. Perhaps you should reflect on your failed tenure and accept that people have rejected you outright."

ISRO brings back 3-tonne rocket body into Earth's atmosphere

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN commitment to India's Debris Free Space Missions (DFSM) initiative which requires space objects operating in the Low Earth Orbital region to return to Earth within five years, the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) successfully completed the re-entry of a 3-tonne rocket body. The cryogenic upper stage of the LVM3 M3/ or OneWeb-2 India Mission which injected 36 OneWeb satellites on March 26, 2023, was left in an orbit of 450 km altitude.

"The upper stage was passivated by depleting excess fuel as per the standard practice to minimise any potential risk for an accidental break-up. The re-entry was estimated to occur within a window from 14:35 UTC to 15:05 UTC, the most probable impact being at 14:55 UTC in the Indian Ocean," read a statement from ISRO.

According to scientists, only certain elements like gas bottles, nozzles, and tanks which comprise material of very high melting points were expected to survive the aerothermal heating during the re-entry for this rocket body.

The upper stage was tracked by the Multi-object Tracking Radar (MOTR) of ISRO at Sriharikota over the orbits before the atmospheric re-entry, and the tracking data was utilised in the re-entry prediction process. It was continuously monitored by ISRO's facility, ISRO System for Safe and Sustainable Space Operations Management (IS4OM), ISTRAC at Bengaluru. The LVM3-M3 rocket body was disposed of through natural orbital decay within two years of the orbital injection. Therefore, it complied with international guidelines such as the UN space debris mitigation guidelines.

HEAT-RELATED INSURANCE, MORE TREE COVER, WATER HARVESTING PLANS A MUST

WHEN T S Eliot wrote "April is the cruellest month", he could still see lilacs breeding in balmy England. But for Indians living under a pitiless sky, there has hardly been a reprieve from an unrelenting heatwave between April and now. Matters got worse this past week in northern and northwestern India as minimum temperatures hovered 5-6°C above normal. This does not allow surfaces to cool before the next day's sun, exacerbating the heat index and the possibility of related ailments.

The National Centre for Disease Control claims that, between March and May, more than 7 lakh people were admitted to emergency wards across the country on heat-related ailments; 24,849 of the cases were counted as heatstrokes, resulting in 56 deaths. Herein lies a problem. Heatstroke numbers are put out by reluctant state governments only when asked, are not regularly collated, and are often disputed. Climate emergencies are declared when crops are lost and compensation has to be fixed, not when there is no clear economic cost computed on human losses. Even temperature counts are uncertain. When the nation gasped at Delhi's Mungeshpur recording an unprecedented 52.9°C on May 29, the weather office blamed it on a faulty sensor.

Related numbers reveal the misery to an extent. The national capital's peak power demand surpassed 8 GW for the first time ever on May 22 and has crossed the threshold eight times since, with a new record of 8.6 GW clocked on Tuesday. Rising water demand in the region has led to inter-state bickering and litigation.

Some fruits of wisdom are low-hanging. Being honest about heatstroke numbers and our cities' tree covers would be a start. Sapling planting drives can be made an annual exercise in cities. The Delhi Metro this year promised to extend rainwater harvesting across its network; if such a scheme is made mandatory for all government properties, it will make a massive difference. In a novel effort worth emulating, about 50,000 women in three states were paid a part of their daily wages for May when they missed work because of the heat. In March, the Supreme Court followed evolving global jurisprudence when it ruled in the M K Ranjitsinh case that citizens had "the right to be free from the adverse effects of climate change". The central and state governments should deliver on the right before being forced.

A BIG STRIDE TOWARDS LA28 AMERICAN DREAM

THE first group stage of the Men's T20 World Cup is over. While there are still two more weeks to go, the first half of the tournament painted a picture about cricket's baby steps towards fulfilling an American dream. But it has not been easy. For the better part of the last fortnight, the conversations have been around the pitches in New York, the $30-m modular venue, early morning starts with the purpose of catering to the Indian television audience and the weather in Florida. In their pursuit to make the game global, especially with the inclusion of cricket at the 2028 LA Olympics, the ICC perhaps had their hearts in the right place. However, the execution can improve a lot. There were teething issues like teams commuting long distances for matches, playing on drop-in pitches that seemed undercooked. Though vagaries of nature cannot be controlled, Florida matches were affected by rain, which was predictable to an extent.

Then come the questions of having marquee matches in the morning (US time) and the high pricing of tickets. Which makes one wonder how much of the local audience did the tournament attract. Thankfully, the co-hosts stepped up. While the US kicked off the tournament in style with a win over Canada, it was only when they beat Pakistan that all eyeballs turned. In their very first T20 World Cup, the US have advanced to the Super 8s, making a mark at the global stage. The rise of Scotland, who almost eliminated defending champions England, is as important as Afghanistan establishing themselves as semifinal contenders, outperforming New Zealand. The gap between full-members and associate nations in this particular format is diminishing at a good pace.

This World Cup is an excellent example for what teams can do with ample opportunities and conditions that make contests a level-playing field. The real challenge will be when the conditions do not offer similar help to bowlers. For teams with little resources, they need regular opportunities to play against stronger teams and more financial support, too. The first leg of the T20 WC, despite its share of issues, has set the path along which the sport should progress towards the 2028 Olympics. The onus now is on the ICC to ensure that it stays on course.

QUICK TAKE

CLARIFICATION ON LIVING IN

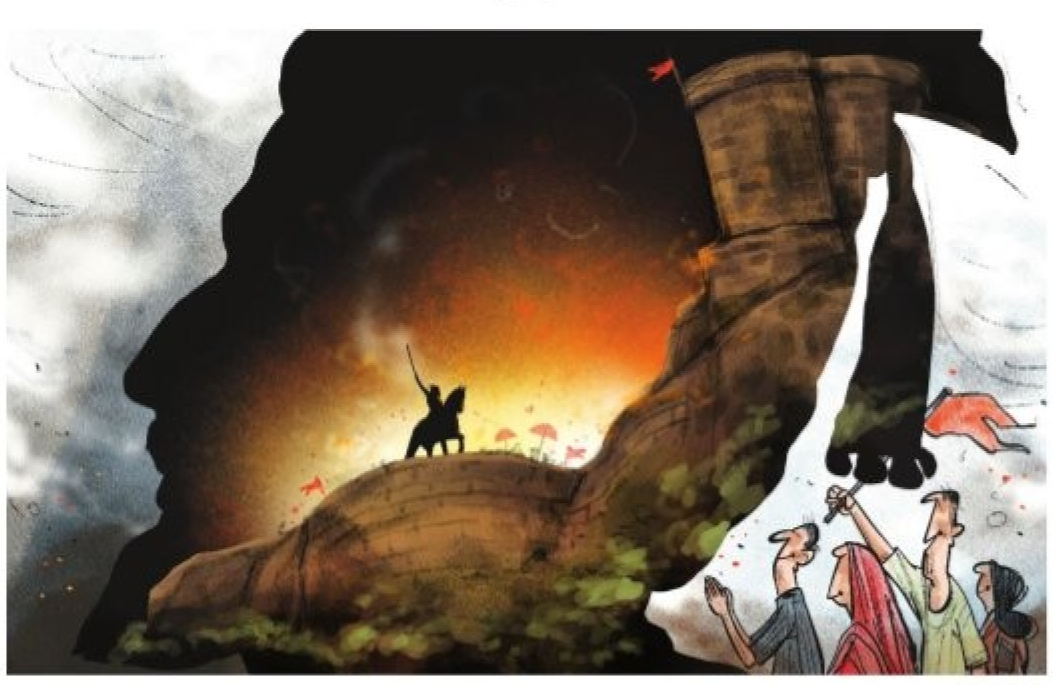
THE Madras High Court has ruled that in a live-in relationship between a married man and an unmarried woman, a partner cannot seek inheritance from the other. In March, the Allahabad High Court held that a married person in a live-in relationship would contravene Hindu law. While the rulings justly upheld the rights that flow from marriage, they seemed to turn the clock back on the spirit of recent jurisprudence. The Supreme Court's landmark rulings in 2010 and 2015 held that living together is legal, and that a live-in partner can inherit the other's property. We need further clarification on the rulings.

Chhatrapati Shivaji is usually remembered for his valour. But his policies changed society across a substantial part of India by unleashing agricultural and cultural revolutions, too

WHY A VISIONARY 17TH-C STRATEGIST IS RELEVANT TODAY

VINAY SAHASRABUDDHE

Senior BJP leader



SOURAV ROY

JUNE 6 marked the 350th anniversary of the coronation of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, a visionary king known for his valour, exceptional administrative abilities and insightful strategies. Sadly, during the British era, colonial rulers deliberately ignored the greatness of Shivaji—a source of great inspiration for numerous freedom fighters and, in a larger context, one who can be counted as one of the nation's earliest freedom fighters. Post independence, too, the apathy towards the Chhatrapati's legacy continued, partly for the sake of politics.

Besides the indisputable fact that Shivaji's contribution is too great to be ignored, we must remember him for multiple reasons. He was an ideal leader known for his farsighted vision, emphasis on inclusiveness, sharpness of mind, as well as strategic thinking and diplomatic approach.

The historical impact of the struggle he faced was neither confined to Maharashtra alone, nor to just one century. Its influence persisted for centuries and will continue for many more ages to come. Generally, Chhatrapati Shivaji is remembered for his bravery and valour. But beyond these attributes, one must also take into account numerous transformations he shaped during his lifetime in 17th century society. Many historians describe him as a revolutionary leader who initiated five major revolutions that are truly worth understanding. These are the farm revolution, economic revolution, social revolution, military revolution and most important, a cultural revolution.

When Shivaji Maharaj and Rajmata Jijabai arrived in Pune, the region had faced severe devastation under the Adilshahi rule. When Rajmata arrived with the young Shivaji, she symbolically got the land around Pune ploughed with a golden plough. This was more than just a gesture. The duo symbolically extended the message to peasants and cultivators to cultivate their land without any fear or apprehensions. In a land considered cursed and in a society that had forgotten how to aspire, Shivaji's golden plough removed a feeling of helplessness and revitalised the fertility of the land. With this, he conveyed to his own countrymen: "No need to worry now. I am here for you." This singularly important act sowed the seeds of hope, confidence and resoluteness.

This was supremely important as under the Adilshahi rule, farmers had to pay 60 percent tax, causing great distress. Add to this the unspeakable tyranny of natural and man-made calamities, making it hard to dare cultivate one's own lands. Historical records indicate that only 30 to 40 percent of the land was under cultivation. To incentivise cultivators, Chhatrapati Shivaji's administration started free ration, up to two measures (khandi) of grains to every cultivating farmer, besides free supply of seeds and farm equipment. He abolished tax for the first five years. Within five years, the situation improved so much that almost a 100 percent of cultivable land was brought under cultivation. Later, in the sixth year, he charged them 33 percent levy to be deposited in kind, in state granary. Thanks to his imaginative thinking and sensitive approach, farming became attractive and farmers, prosperous.

The prosperity of farmers had a cascading effect as it led to the economic well-being of all those previously known as the '12 balutedars', whom we now refer to as traditional artisans and craftsmen. With economic stability of farmers restored, their unending demand for tools, equipment and implements triggered rural manufacturing, which provided work for blacksmiths, carpenters and cobblers, among others. This was a kind of economic revolution as it opened up several livelihood opportunities for many.

This gave way to a kind of social revolution too. When society at large—otherwise fragmented in innumerable caste and community groups— realised they can very well depend upon the rule of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, aspire a better life and an assured law and order, it led to the restoration of popular confidence in administration. Over 18 different castes belonging to agro-based labour and craftsmanship felt empowered to attain prosperity and prestige. This led to the formation of the Mavalas (soldiers of Shivaji), a socially integrated army of committed soldiers. Without any formal recruitment, this ever-ready army was largely spontaneous and yet organised. Whenever a battle loomed, everyone would leave their work and answer to Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj's call with a sense of duty. This was unparalleled.

Chhatrapati Shivaji had to fight innumerable uneven battles. His army of few hundred brave soldiers always had to confront the might of several thousand soldiers of the Mughals. An insightful field-martial, Shivaji often resorted to the guerrilla tactics of warfare (known in Marathi as ganimi kava). An artful dodger, he didn't mind retreating strategically for a while, only to be attacking the enemy more aggressively later. He fought several battles, but largely on his own terms and in his chosen territory. As demonstrated by him at his battle at Pratapgarh, choosing the place and time of the battle was one of his best war tactics.

Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj's idea of Swaraj was not confined only to self-rule. It also encompassed the idea of Swa-Dharma (self consciousness about one's duties) and Swa-Bhasha (mother tongue). These were the fundamental principles guiding him in his bid to decolonise popular thinking. In those days, many Persian and Arabic words were thrusted on indigenous languages, including Marathi. Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj must be credited for introducing new words coined during his regime providing substitute indigenous terms. In fact, creating a Marathi Rajya Vyavahar Kosh, a dictionary of Marathi terms, was one of his singularly important contributions. This was the cultural revolution shaped by him.

In the most unpredictable, unstable political milieu of those days, with every kind of risk at every threshold, he established values like justice, self respect, commitment, sacrifice, fraternity, equality and respect for women, and the rule of law through his unparalleled vision. Before the era of Chhatrapati Shivaji, invaders used to easily overpower us. As a society, we were accustomed to being trounced time and again. Silently swallowing the poison of disrespect, desecration and defeat had become our national habit. If there was anyone in the 17th century who stood up firmly and dared to challenge this defeatist mentality, it was none other than Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj.

US TARIFF WAR ON CHINA SUBVERTS WTO RULES

BISWAJIT DHAR

Former professor, Jawaharlal Nehru University and Vice President, Council for Social Development

THIS May, the Biden administration unilaterally increased tariffs on 14 Chinese products, including electric vehicles, lithium-ion batteries, semiconductors, solar cells, select medical products, minerals, steel and aluminium, valued at $18 billion. These increases, between 50 and 100 percent, were introduced using Section 301 of the US Trade Act, 1974. The administration thus undermined its commitment to the World Trade Organization (WTO) to refrain from taking unilateral action against member nations. Most increases would take effect this year on August 1, while higher tariffs on semiconductors and lithium-ion batteries would be introduced from 2025 and 2026, respectively.

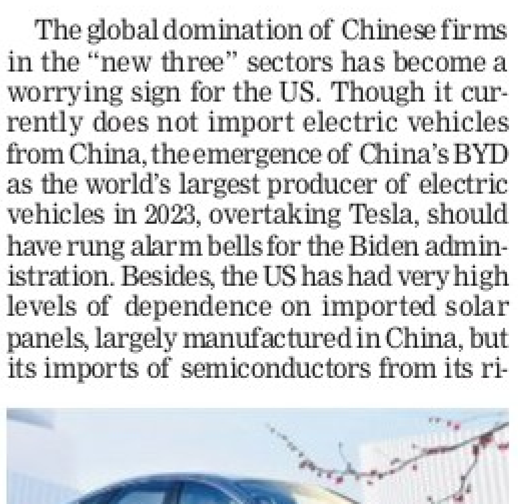
US Trade Representative (USTR) Katherine Tai argued the action was due to China's "unfair technology transfer-related policies and practices that continue to burden US commerce and harm workers and businesses". Two issues arise from this action, namely, the raison d'être for its action, and the larger implications for the rules-based multilateral system that prohibits WTO members from taking such actions.

The manner in which the Biden administration launched this offensive against the US's largest trade partner reflects a steep escalation of conflicts of interests between the two superpowers. One of the main factors is China has stolen a march over the US in key areas of technology, especially in green energy and semiconductors, that would be the drivers of the global economy for the next several decades.

Over the past few years, China has been focusing on the use of advanced technologies, especially in the sectors the US administration has targeted by raising tariffs to extend its dominance as an industrial power. The import of this approach was underlined by President Xi Jinping in 2023, when he emphasised the need to integrate scientific and technological innovation that could lead to the "development of strategic emerging and future industries, and accelerate the formation of new-quality productive forces".

In the recent plenary session of the National People's Congress, the centre of attention was on "new productive forces" and the "new three" sectors, namely, electric vehicles, lithium-ion batteries and solar panels, sectors in which Chinese producers had unparalleled dominance. The Chinese leadership has chosen these sectors to bolster its post-Covid growth.

The global domination of Chinese firms in the "new three" sectors has become a worrying sign for the US. Though it currently does not import electric vehicles from China, the emergence of China's BYD as the world's largest producer of electric vehicles in 2023, overtaking Tesla, should have rung alarm bells for the Biden administration. Besides, the US has had very high levels of dependence on imported solar panels, largely manufactured in China, but its imports of semiconductors from its rival have been declining. The growing presence of China in these areas is a potential threat to the huge investments the Biden administration has supported to develop domestic industries in these sectors.



BYD

By increasing tariffs for 14 Chinese products including electric vehicles, the US has undermined its WTO commitment of refraining from unilateral actions against member nations. With such a precedent, other countries may feel encouraged to launch trade wars

The administration claims its 'Investing in America' agenda has attracted "more than $860 billion in business investments through smart, public incentives in industries of the future like electric vehicles, clean energy, and semiconductors". Backed by support from the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, CHIPS and Science Act, and Inflation Reduction Act, the US expects investments in these sectors to create new jobs in manufacturing and clean energy. Notwithstanding its deep resentment against industrial policies in the past and its proactive role to ensure government-backing for developing domestic industries became history the world over, the US has taken significant initiatives towards refurbishing its industrial base with huge state support. With its focus on increasing reliance on domestic production capacities, questions should be raised as to whether the US has taken a step back from globalisation.

Besides the ideological underpinnings of globalisation, which the US backed through what was popularly called the Washington Consensus, this process also had institutional support. The mandate of the WTO is to keep members committed to globalisation through strict adherence of rules, the basis of which is to ensure trade restrictions are not imposed unilaterally.

As mentioned at the outset, the US's unilateral tariff increases were based on the provisions of Section 301 of its Trade Act, which authorises the USTR to investigate and take action against trade partners whose policies adversely affect American interests. This means the US Congress vested powers in the USTR to undertake trade retaliation based on its own investigation.

Action under Section 301 is a contravention of the WTO rules for dispute settlement. These rules stipulate no WTO member can take unilateral action against another in case the latter violates its commitments taken while joining the organisation. The dispute settlement body (DSB) of the WTO provides the institutional wherewithal to settle disputes and therefore, the US should have removed provisions like Section 301 from its statute book. However, the strongest economic power did not, despite losing a dispute brought against these provisions by the EU in 1999. Following this, the US gave an undertaking not to use Section 301 against any WTO member before the DSB determined if there was a violation. The US has now reneged on its undertaking through its latest action.

With the US setting this undesirable precedent, others may feel encouraged to take unilateral actions against trade partners. Does this set the stage for trade wars?

Soundly intrusive

Ref: The intrusive Indian's passion to connect (Jun 18). In today's dominant social media world, the minds of humans are heading towards pure personal self-interest. The fondness with which humans had interacted in the past may be erased. It is better to be soundly intrusive and keep the ball of conversations rolling for a responsive, satisfactory life in the end.

The author has rightly described the tight-lipped appearance of individuals today. In these days of falling values and failing relationships, it is the Indian way of intrusive passion that is likely to work wonders in elevating human relations. Deter assault

Ref: Protect journalists to boost democracy (Jun 18). Journalists are crucial to democracy, and the government must enforce stringent laws to protect them from violence and intimidation. In response to incidents like the attack in Bengaluru, the government should establish rapid response teams and hotlines for journalists facing threats. Creating an independent commission to investigate such attacks on the press will deter future assaults.

Baseless allegations

Opposition parties keep blaming the Election Commission and EVMs for their loss. They claim the EC is biased and EVMs can be tampered with to ensure the BJP wins. If that was true, how did the Congress win 100 seats, and DMK sweep Tamil Nadu? This shows opposition allegations are baseless.

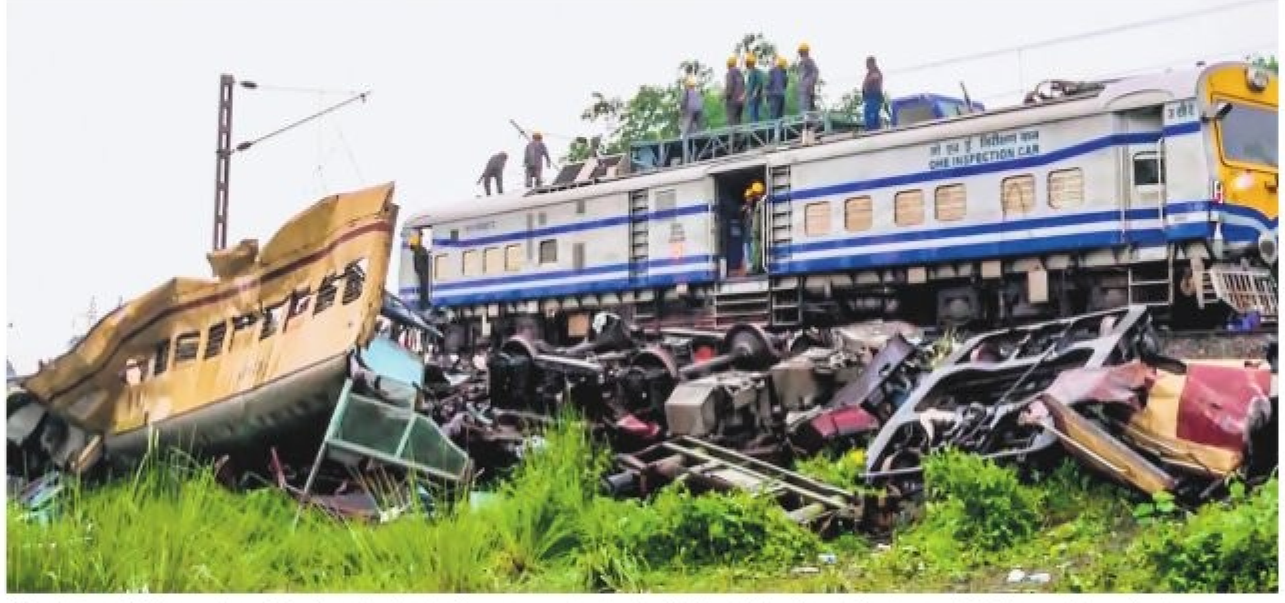
Railways says accidents have reduced in 10 years; Cong asks railway minister to resign

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR AND PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi



Wreckage of trains a day after Kanchanjunga Express and a goods train collided near Rangapani station, on Tuesday | PTI

EVEN as chief commissioner of railway safety (CRS) Janak Kumar Garg began an inquiry into the train accident in West Bengal, a political tussle erupted over the incident on Tuesday, with the Congress demanding the resignation of Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw and the government putting up a counter saying 121 people had died during Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge's tenure as railway minister in 2013-14 in nine accidents.

A goods train rammed into Kanchanjunga express on Monday near New Jalpaiguri, killing 10 people.

Hitting out at the railway minister, Kharge sought to know why not even a single kilometer of the much-hyped 'Kavach' anti-train collision system was added a year after a major accident like Balasore.

"Why are nearly 3 lakh posts vacant in the railways, why were they not filled in the last 10 years? According to the NCRB (2022) report, 1,00,000 people have died in rail accidents between 2017 and 2021 alone! Who will take responsibility for this?" he asked.

The Congress chief said that Railway Board itself has admitted that the long working hours of loco pilots due to acute shortage of manpower are the main reason for the increasing number of accidents.

Refuting the Opposition allegations on safety, a senior railway official said, "From a peak of 473 accidents in 2000-01 to a mere 40 in 2022-23, the railway network has witnessed a drastic reduction in accidents, marking a significant improvement in passenger safety." He added, "Kavach (anti-collision device) has been made operational on 1,465 kilometres and fixed with 121 locomotives."

Citing data, the official claimed that the introduction of electronic interlocking at 6,586 stations and automatic block signalling on 4,111 kilometres of high-density routes have also bolstered operational safety and efficiency. He added that all locomotives now have been equipped with vigilance control devices to monitor pilot alertness and the GPS-based fog safety devices to help the train drivers during foggy conditions as part of railway national safety measures.

"The commitment to safety is evident with expenditures on safety-related works and track renewals increasing by 2.5 times and 2.33 times, respectively, from 2004-14 to 2014-24. This investment has yielded substantial results, with weld failures reduced by 87% and rail fractures by 85% over the past decade," a senior railway official said.

Hasina opts for visit to India before going to China in July

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

BANGLADESH Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina is set to arrive in New Delhi on a two-day state visit on June 21 at the invitation of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Her India visit takes precedence over China trip in July, signalling a shift in Dhaka's foreign policy.

This will be her second visit in less than a fortnight, as she was here on June 9 for Prime Minister Narendra Modi's swearing in.

She will be India's first state guest since Modi assumed office for a third time and also her first overseas State visit after she came to power for the fifth time in January this year.

The issues likely to come up for discussion during her meeting with Modi include Dhaka's plan to develop cross-border Teesta Special Economic Zone, renewing of the Ganga Water Sharing Treaty, supply of essential food items like wheat and onions and management of Mongla Port (which is the second busiest port in Bangladesh after Chittagong and India is considering developing it on the lines of Chabahar in Iran and Sittwe in Myanmar).

China has already made a formal proposal for taking up the $1 billion project to develop the Teesta river and India has raised concerns over security on this as it is a border area. There will be discussions around the deteriorating situation in Myanmar which shares its border with both India and Bangladesh.

This will be Hasina's third visit to India since September 2023, as she came to Delhi to attend the G20 Summit.

It has been learnt that Hasina will meet External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar on Friday, shortly after she lands in the national capital. She will be accorded a ceremonial welcome on June 22 at the Rashtrapati Bhawan where she is set to be received by PM Modi.

The two leaders will have delegation level talks later in the day at Hyderabad House. Hasina is expected to go to China on a State visit in July.

NDA meet at Rajnath's residence to firm up House plan, speaker

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

Amit Shah and JP Nadda at the Maharashtra BJP Core Committee meeting | PTI

AHEAD of the Parliament session starting from June 24, a coordination meeting of the NDA ministers was held on Tuesday at defence minister Rajnath Singh's residence, with home minister Amit Shah and other top leaders attending.

They deliberated on strategies to be adopted during the session, coming to a consensus about exposing Opposition on the floors of both the Houses, BJP sources said. "At the NDA leaders' coordination meeting, discussions on the election for the post of LS Speaker and Deputy Speaker were also held," said a senior BJP leader.

NDA leaders also chalked out the floor strategy for the Parliament session during which President Droupadi Murmu will spell out the government's vision for the next five years.

At the meeting, leaders' suggestions for the Speaker's post were discussed. It was also decided that senior Congress leader K Suresh, an eight-term LS member, may be projected as pro-tem speaker.

A senior BJP leader said, "The meeting, attended by senior leaders such as Manohar Lal Khattar, Bhupender Yadav and Piyush Goyal, deliberated on nominations for the speaker and deputy speaker posts."

BJP sources indicated that the election for the Speaker's post is scheduled for June 26. Several names are doing the rounds for the post, including that of Andhra Pradesh BJP chief D Purandeshwari, and former Union minister Radha Mohan Singh. "Rajnath Singh has been entrusted with the task of reaching out to NDA allies on this front," said the party source.

"If no consensus emerges on any of these two names, the incumbent Speaker's continuity remains a possibility," a BJP leader said, claiming that there is no difference among the NDA allies regarding the Speaker. The BJP may also think of giving the Deputy Speaker post to its NDA allies. "In addition to the Speaker's appointment, a strategic allocation of the Deputy Speaker post, potentially to accommodate alliance partners like the TDP, is almost certain with an aim to balance regional representation within the NDA in the LS," a BJP leader said.

After this, another key meeting was held between top central leaders and core group members of Maharashtra BJP at the party headquarters to discuss about the upcoming assembly elections in the state.

Maharashtra Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis, after attending the meeting, told media that discussions were held on strategies to be adopted during the polls. "The Lok Sabha election results were also discussed to know where we lost the votes, because difference between the Mahayuti and MVA vote share is just 0.3%," he said. He said there will not be any change in the BJP leadership in Maharashtra and he will continue as the Deputy Chief Minister.

A meeting of the core group of Jharkhand BJP was also held.

POLL MODE

Key Cong meet to chalk out Assembly poll plan

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

We are strongly committed to reinvigorating the party organisation in Andhra Pradesh. Every Congress worker should work hard and become the voice of the people

Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress president

AFTER its impressive show in the recently held Lok Sabha elections, the Congress is preparing to take the fight to the poll-bound states of Jharkhand, Maharashtra, Haryana and Jammu and Kashmir. The party will begin consultations beginning from next week to strengthen the organisation and chalk out its strategies for the upcoming assembly elections.

Announcing the plans, AICC general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal said the top leadership will hold meetings with leaders in Jharkhand on June 24, Maharashtra on 25, Haryana on 26 and J&K on 27.

"Carrying forward the momentum in our favour, we are dedicated to ensuring a handsome victory in the upcoming state elections. To kickstart our efforts, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge and former party president Rahul Gandhi will hold strategy meetings with senior leaders of the election-bound states," he wrote.

In Jharkhand, the Congress will be looking to ramp up its organisational base as it won only two out of the seven LS seats it contested.

Buoyed by the strong show in Maharashtra and Haryana Lok Sabha polls, the Congress is confident that the INDIA bloc will come to power in both the states. Speaking to this newspaper, AICC in-charge of Maharashtra, Ramesh Chennithala, said that the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) comprising Shiv Sena (UBT), Congress and NCP (SP) is confident of winning the assembly polls.

The MVA won 30 out of 48 Lok Sabha seats in the state and the Congress emerged as the party with the highest number of seats in the alliance. "The MVA will be working unitedly to take on the Mahayuti alliance," said Chennithala.

Upbeat about Haryana

In Haryana, where the Congress got five out of the 10 seats in the Lok Sabha polls, the party is upbeat that it will make significant gains in the state elections. The top leadership will hold meetings with Haryana leaders on June 26

Discontent in NDA camp, govt 'fragile', claims Rahul

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

A tectonic shift has taken place in Indian politics. The space in the Indian political system has been blown open

Rahul Gandhi, Congress MP

CONGRESS MP Rahul Gandhi has claimed that the NDA government led by Prime Minister Modi is 'very fragile' and the smallest disturbance can drop the government. The former Congress chief made the remarks in an interview to the Financial Times on Tuesday.

"The numbers are such that they are very fragile, and the smallest disturbance can drop the government. Basically one ally has to turn the other way," said Gandhi. On Monday, the Congress leader announced his decision to keep Rae Bareli seat though he won from the second seat Wayanad with a huge margin.

The Gandhi scion also claimed that there was "great discontent" within the NDA camp and that there were "people who are in touch with us" from within it. However, he did not divulge the details, according to the British newspaper.

Early this week, Congress chief Mallikarjun Kharge also stated that the NDA government will not survive and it can fall any time. Several INDIA bloc leaders have reiterated the claim that the coalition government is on a weak footing. One of the key takeaways in the 2024 election is that the BJP failed to touch the 272 seats required to form the government. With just 240 seats in the 543-member Lok Sabha, the BJP found a lifeline with its biggest two pre-poll allies TDP and the JD(U) to form a government. A resurgent Opposition managed to blunt the Modi juggernaut with 237 seats.

"A tectonic shift has taken place in Indian politics. The space in the Indian political system has been blown open," said Gandhi.

People's mandate

Referring to the poll campaign run by Modi and the BJP, Rahul Gandhi said, "The idea that you can spread hatred and anger and reap benefits, the Indian people have rejected it in this election. That's also why the coalition will struggle, because what worked for Modi in 2014 and 2019 is not working."

ELECTIONS ON CARDS

Legislative council bypolls in 5 seats across 4 states

MUKESH RANJAN @New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) announced on Tuesday the schedule for bypolls to fill five Legislative Council vacancies across four states. Voting for these seats will be held on July 12.

Simultaneously, in a separate notification, the poll panel also announced biennial elections for 11 seats of the Maharashtra Legislative Council, scheduled for the same date.

Three of the five vacancies arose due to the resignation of members of the Legislative Council (MLCs), while the remaining two seats were vacated due to disqualification.

In Karnataka, former Chief Minister Jagadish Shettar resigned as an MLC in January. He subsequently left the BJP to join the Congress after being denied a ticket for the Dharwad Central Assembly seat. He rejoined the BJP ahead of the Lok Sabha polls and won the parliamentary election.

A vacancy in the Uttar Pradesh Legislative Council occurred when Swami Prasad Maurya resigned from the Samajwadi Party and the House in February. Similarly, one seat each in Bihar and Andhra Pradesh fell vacant due to the disqualification of incumbent members. Another seat in the Andhra Pradesh Legislative Council became vacant in April following the resignation of YSRCP MLC Shaikh Mohammed Iqbal.

Additionally, 11 MLCs in Maharashtra are set to retire on July 27. Among these, four are from the BJP, two from the Congress, while the NCP, Shiv Sena, Shiv Sena (UBT), Peasants and Workers Party, and Rashtriya Samaj Party each have one representative retiring.

Biennial elections

In a separate notification, the poll panel also announced biennial elections for 11 seats of the Maharashtra Legislative Council, scheduled for July 12. Eleven MLCs in the state are set to retire on July 27, just months ahead of the assembly polls.

Manglaur set to witness close triangular contest

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

THE ruling BJP and Congress have announced their candidates for the July 10 Manglaur bypoll in Uttarakhand. While Congress has named Qazi Nizamuddin, the BJP has fielded Kartar Singh Bhadana.

The Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) has fielded Udebur Rahman, son of late MLA Sarwar Karim Ansari.

Based on the electoral analysis, the historical trend of the Manglaur Assembly seat reveals consistent representation by Muslim candidates who have successfully secured seats in the state Assembly.

In the last 22 years, from the 2002 to the 2022 elections, the BJP has not won this seat.

Since the formation of Uttarakhand, the results of by-elections have always favoured the ruling party. Out of the 14 bypolls held since the first Legislative Assembly election in 2002, the ruling party had won 14 out of 15.

The outcome of the Manglaur seat heavily relies on Muslim voters. Historically, the BJP has not been successful in securing votes here. The BJP may have made strategic moves in the upcoming bypolls, but it faces a tough fight from the Congress and BSP.

In the recent Lok Sabha elections, Congress saw a significant increase of 23,000 votes.

Congress state president Karan Mahara said, "By fielding a parachute candidate, the BJP has proved that they have no organisational presence in the Manglaur constituency."

Cong nominates Sukhu's wife from Dehra seat

Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu's wife Kamlesh Thakur will contest the forthcoming assembly bypoll from the Dehra constituency. This will be for the first time that the wife of a sitting CM is fighting assembly polls. Earlier, Pratibha Singh, the present state Congress president and wife of former CM Virbhadra Singh, had fought the Lok Sabha polls and was the sitting MP from Mandi.

Nikhil Gupta will now face justice in US courtroom, says attorney general

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

US Attorney General Merrick Garland, during the trial before a New York Federal Court of Nikhil Gupta — an Indian national accused of being involved in a murder-for-hire plot against a Sikh extremist in New York — emphasised that the Department of Justice will not tolerate efforts to silence or harm American citizens.

"This extradition makes clear that the Justice Department will not tolerate attempts to silence or harm American citizens," Garland said.

"Nikhil Gupta will now face justice in an American courtroom for his involvement in an alleged plot, directed by an employee of the Indian government, to target and assassinate a US citizen for his support of the Sikh separatist movement in India," he added.

Deputy Attorney General Lisa Monaco alleged that Gupta's involvement was a bold attempt to silence a political activist. FBI Director Christopher Wray reiterated this stance, stating, "We will continue to collaborate with our domestic and international partners to safeguard our citizens and these fundamental rights," emphasising that foreign nationals attempting to undermine constitutionally-protected freedoms in the US will face consequences.

Gupta is accused of involvement in a murder-for-hire plot targeting US-Canadian citizen and Khalistani separatist Gurpatwant Singh Pannun. He was arrested in Czech Republic's Prague on June 30 last year and extradited to the US last Friday. If proven guilty, he could face up to 10 years in prison.

India has designated Pannun a terrorist by India four years ago, while the US Justice Department refers to him as a political activist.

India has stated that they are reviewing the evidence shared by the US regarding the allegations and have established a committee for this purpose.

Meanwhile, 52-year-old Gupta left Prague for the US from Ruzyne Airport on Friday after nearly a year in jail.

The decision to extradite Gupta was made on June 3 by Czech Minister of Justice Pavel Blazek. This decision followed two earlier extradition rulings: by the Municipal Court of Prague on November 23, 2023, and by the High Court in Prague on January 8, 2024.

"The extradition to the US was authorised for criminal prosecution on suspicion of conspiracy to commit murder-for-hire with the intent to cause death, in violation of US laws," said Vladimir Repka, spokesperson for the Ministry of Justice of the Czech Republic.

On May 23 this year, the Constitutional Court of the Czech Republic rejected Gupta's appeal against the extradition ruling, deeming it "prima facie unfounded." His case was subsequently referred to Minister of Justice Pavel Blazek.

₹20K-cr transferred to 9.3 crore PMKS beneficiaries' accounts; PM thanks Varanasi voters

Historic hat-trick after 60 yrs: Modi

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

EXPRESSING his gratitude to the people of Varanasi for electing him third time in a row as their representative in Lok Sabha, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday called it a "historic hat-trick" and "unprecedented mandate", which came through after six decades in the country.

"After winning the elections, I have come to Varanasi. I bow to the people of Kashi, Baba Kashi Vishwanath and Maa Ganga," PM said. "History has been created as a third consecutive term has been awarded to a sitting government after a gap of 60 years. There are less instances in world when a government is given third term in succession by the people in democratic set-up," he added.

The PM said the trust reposed in him by the people of Kashi was his only possession. "I extend my gratitude to you for electing your 'Sevak Modi' third time in a row and reposing your faith in me after 10 years of governance," he said while addressing a gathering of farmers and women along with common people in Varanasi.

The PM, who was on a day's visit to his constituency, stayed back in Kashi. Besides his other engagements, he also participated in the Ganga Aarti in the evening.

Reiterating farmers, youth, women and poor as the four pillars of his growth agenda, Modi said he started his third term with pledge of constructing three crore more houses for the poor and transfer of ₹20,000 crore in accounts of 9.3 crore beneficiaries of PM Kisan Samman Nidhi. It was the biggest direct transfer benefit scheme of the world and around ₹700 crore was deposited in the accounts of farmers of Varanasi under this scheme so far, added the PM.

Exhorting the agri sector to be prepared for playing a lead role in making India the third largest economy of the world, Modi said it was imperative to ensure that at least one food item of India remained present at each dining table across the globe. The PM said the 2024 victory became possible in a country where youth aspirations were very high and dreams of people were big but to achieve it all they voted for the same government, which was in power for 10 years, to serve them.

"It's a big victory that became possible due to showing big faith by people in us. It inspires me to work hard day in and day out to take the country to newer heights," said Modi.

"Over 64 crore voters exercised their franchise, of whom 31 crore were women. The total votes of G7 nations or European Union countries can't reach close to total number of votes exercised in Lok Sabha polls, while total women votes exercised this time were almost equal to US's population," he said. Modi, who also distributed certificates to 30,000 women from self-help groups as Krishi Sakhis, said women had already proved their mettle in many fields.

"Now they have to achieve success in agriculture sector as Krishi Sakhis as well. It will help in achieving the target of making three crore 'Lakhpati Didis'," said the PM. Modi said, "Agriculture sector will have to play a major role in making India third largest economy. We will have to become self-dependent in production of pulses and oil seeds and increase production of millets by keeping the demands of global markets in view. Focus should remain on increasing agriculture products."

Mentioning how economic growth of Kashi had benefited the entire Purvanchal region, Modi said the development of journey of Kashi would continue while keeping its heritage and spirituality intact.

RSS seeks to fix accountability on Maha BJP leaders

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh has sought accountability from BJP leaders over the party's Lok Sabha poll setback in Maharashtra and asked them to undertake corrective measures if they want to win the state assembly elections slated for later this year, RSS sources said.

Senior BJP leaders, such as ministers Chandrakant Patil and Radhakrishna Vikhe Patil, met RSS functionaries at Motibaug, the Sangh head office in Pune, to discuss the poll debacle in Maharashtra.

The BJP won nine Lok Sabha seats out of 28 it contested, as against 23 in the 2019 elections. The Congress won 14 seats against one in 2019, the Sharad Pawar-led NCP eight and the Shiv Sena (UBT) nine. The Ajit Pawar-led NCP won only one seat.

"Out of 288 state assembly segments, the Maha Vikas Aghadi is ahead on 150, more than the majority mark of 145, while NDA is ahead on 130 segments. In assembly elections, the Narendra Modi factor will not be there. Besides, the current trend is unlikely to change.

Therefore, BJP needs to go for drastic corrective measures if it really wants to bounce back in Maharashtra," a senior RSS functionary said, requesting anonymity.

He added that RSS can only give suggestions as a parent body. "It is true the RSS head office is in Nagpur but it is not easy to convert Maharashtra into a saffron state like Gujarat and Madhya Pradesh. Different pluralistic ideologies are there in the state so it's a tough job for RSS to bring everyone under Hindutva umbrella. Apart from Hindutva, we do need social engineering in the state," another RSS functionary said, wishing not to be named.

"In this election, BJP's core OBC vote bank got alienated while anti-BJP votes of Marathas, Dalits and Muslims got consolidated and that damaged the BJP's prospects," he added.

Ministers, babus told to pay power bills from July

Come July, all Assam ministers, MLAs and government officials staying in government quarters will have to pay their electricity bills. Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said this decision would bring an end to VIP culture. "We are ending the #VIPCulture rule of paying electricity bills of government officials using tax payer money. Myself and the Chief Secretary will set an example and start paying our power bills from July 1 onwards. Beginning July 2024, all public servants will have to pay for their own electricity consumption," he wrote on X. He said it was implemented at 8,000 government offices, schools, etc.

Transgender posts swim pic, asked to leave school

A Class XI transgender student in the city had to leave her school, for it objected to her act of posting a swimsuit photo on her social media account. The teenager, who was a student of Humanities, had taken the swimsuit photo during a recent outing. The school authority was upset that she did not follow the rules which was evident when she had posted her "semi-nude" photo on social media. Her parents said they would take legal recourse against the school management. They were worried about her mental health given the kind of harassment she faced.

He was confident the initiative would contribute to ensuring that "The Cuppa that Cheers" is delivered to consumers in a manner that is compliant with global tea manufacturing standards. The testing lab is expected to play a key role in ensuring quality control.

Himanta seeks CBI probe into IIT-Kharagpur student's death

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

ASSAM Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma has written to his West Bengal counterpart Mamata Banerjee, requesting her to hand over the case involving the mysterious death of an Indian Institute of Technology-Kharagpur student from Assam to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI).

Faizan Ahmed (23), a 4th semester mechanical engineering student, was found dead in his hostel room on the IIT-Kharagpur premises on October 14, 2022.

The college authorities claimed he died by suicide but his family alleged he was murdered. The family had earlier given its consent to the Calcutta HC for the exhumation of the body for a second autopsy. Later, the body was exhumed in eastern Assam's Dibrugarh.

The second autopsy, conducted revealed a gunshot wound on the upper left side of his neck and a stab injury on the right side. "Although Faizan Ahmed's his death was claimed by the college authority to be a case of suicide, his bereaved parents had observed injury marks on his body which indicated that it was a case of homicide," Sarma wrote to Banerjee .

Mamata meets BJP MP Anant Maharaj setting rumour mill buzzing

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @ Kolkata

CHIEF Minister Mamata Banerjee on Tuesday met BJP Rajya Sabha MP Anant Maharaj at Coochbehar raising speculations about his possible switchover to the TMC.

Banerjee visited the North Bengal Medical College and Hospital in Siliguri to meet victims of the Kanchanjunga Express tragedy before arriving in Cooch Behar. A goods train hit the Sealdah-bound Kanchanjungha Express on Monday, killing nine people.

The meeting, seen as politically significant, lasted for around 35 minutes. Upon her arrival at the Chakchaka Palace, Maharaj alias Nagen Roy, welcomed the CM with a traditional scarf and 'guwa paan' (betel leaf). Before visiting Roy's residence, Banerjee offered prayers at the Madan Mohan temple in the district headquarters town.

While the state BJP has yet to respond to this development, Roy was cryptic about the implications of the meeting. "Let's see what happens in future," he told reporters after the meeting.

The Trinamool Congress (TMC) recently secured a significant victory in Cooch Behar, wresting the Lok Sabha seat from the BJP. TMC defeated the incumbent BJP MP, Nisith Pramanik, by nearly 40,000 votes. This election result has sparked speculation about potential new political alignments, given Roy's influence over a substantial section of the Rajbongshi community in the region.

The TMC supremo's visit has assumed significance as Anant Maharaj had turned rebel against the BJP after it announced its erstwhile Union Minister Nisith Pramanik as the Lok Sabha poll candidate.

Significance

TMC supremo Mamata Banerjee's visit assumes significance as Anant Maharaj had turned rebel against the BJP after it announced Nisith Pramanik, former Union MoS, as its Lok Sabha candidate from Coochbehar. Maharaj is very influencial among the Rajbongshi community. The meeting between Mamata Banerjee and Maharaj lasted for 35 minutes.

BOILING TAP WATER, POWER CUTS ADD TO DELHI'S MISERY

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

"WE are more worried about the boiling tap water than the blistering heat," says Sunita, 28, a migrant from Maharashtra, living in Delhi's Sundar Nagari. "Our sleep-deprived women in the neighbourhood wake up around 5 am to start household chores and bathe early so as to avoid the boiling tap water during daytime," she adds.

Heatwave conditions during both day and night have made life miserable for those who don't have cooling equipment at home. Excess heat has also made street dogs more irritable, possibly doubling dog bite cases.

A family out in the blazing sun with their heads covered, in the Capital on Tuesday | Parveen Negi

Delhi's maximum temperature on Monday was 6-8°C above normal and so was the minimum temperature — over 6°C above normal. The Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) catagorises the conditions as warm night when the departure of the minimum temperature is 4.5°C-6.4°C above normal. Severe warm nights are when the departure is over 6.4°C. Normally, the difference between maximum and minimum in summer in the North is 10-15°C. But the current difference is just around 6-8°C. "It shows the magnitude of the heatwave conditions," said Dr Mrutyunjay Mohapatra, IMD chief. Warm night to severe warm night conditions have been observed in parts of Punjab, Haryana-Chandigarh-Delhi and UP.

Warm night conditions are prevalant in isolated pockets of Rajasthan and Bihar. Then there is the problem of frequent power cuts and water scarcity in Delhi-NCR colonies. "For a week in May, our transformer burst and deprived us of electricity. Now, regular water supply is a challenge," said Mihir Chandra, a resident of a posh colony in Gurgaon, who organised multiple protest at the Gurgaon Municipal Corporation. "I found many similar protests in Noida, Ghaziabad, and other places. I am worried about our older people and children coping with the heat," he added.

Even ACs struggle to function in the heat. "My mechanic arranged a cooler to keep my AC functional," said a senior doctor living in Delhi's Vasant Vihar. He works at the Government Civil Hospital in Gurgaon. "Heat-related illness cases have gone up by 25% in all OPDs. Dog bite cases have also jumped in the past one month," he said on the condition of anonymity.

RUMBLINGS IN SAFFRON PARTY

Sita Soren blames party rift for her poll defeat

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

If investigated properly, the list of traitors, who have been damaging party by remaining inside the party from behind the curtains, will be out

Sita Soren, BJP candidate

Support from party

Sita Soren, said that despite the 'traitors' in the saffron camp, she is getting support from the BJP and hence, there is no question of leaving BJP and returning to JMM.

SITA Soren, the BJP candidate for Dumka Lok Sabha seat, has created a sensation by alleging internal deception in the party for her defeat. According to her, the election in-charge was not loyal to the party and the organisation did not have the strength it should have.

Notably, Sita Soren, the elder daughter in law of JMM patriarch Shibu Soren and three times MLA from Jama Assembly seat in Dumka, resigned both from JMM and Assembly membership and joined BJP ahead of 2024-Lok Sabha polls alleging the party of isolating her and hatching conspiracy against her family members.

Soren was fielded from Dumka by replacing the sitting MP Sunil Soren. She has accused former BJP MP from Dumka, Sunil Soren, Sarath MLA and Dumka in-charge Randhir Singh and former Dumka MLA Louis Marandi of deceiving her and the party as well. Not only that, she has also accused BJP workers of getting managed by the opposition by taking money from them.

Soren further alleged that some BJP leaders and workers had started acting arbitrarily; however, the party received the support of people so the margin of defeat was less.

'Polarising polls'

Rajendra Rathore is accused of polarising the election along Jat vs Rajput lines by ensuring the sitting MP Rahul Kaswan was denied a ticket during elections.

INTERNAL conflicts within the Rajasthan BJP show no signs of abating following the recent election results. Last week, the party convened to discuss significant losses, with defeats in 11 out of 25 seats in the state. Chief Minister Bhajanlal Sharma has submitted a detailed report on this matter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the party high command in Delhi.

According to sources, the report contains complaints against several prominent leaders, including Rajendra Rathore, Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, and Om Birla. Rathore is accused of polarising the election along Jat vs Rajput lines by ensuring the sitting MP Rahul Kaswan was denied a ticket. Meanwhile, Birla and Shekhawat face criticism for focusing solely on their own seats. Similar allegations have been made against other party leaders.

The pre-budget session meeting further highlighted discord within the party. A poster displayed outside the Chief Minister's office attracted considerable attention. Due to the Lok Sabha polls, only a partial budget was presented this year, with the full budget pending. In preparation, CM Bhajanlal Sharma sought suggestions from various stakeholders.

Newly-built bridge collapses again in Bihar days ahead of its opening

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A portion of a newly constructed bridge on the river Bakra collapsed in Bihar's Araria district ahead of the inauguration on Tuesday, raising questions over quality of construction material being used for the purpose. BJP MLA from Sikti Vijay Kumar Mandal blamed the unholy nexus between contractor and officials of rural works department for the incident and demanded a thorough investigation.

A bridge collapses into the Bakra river at Padkiya Ghat in Araria | PTI

Built at a cost of ~12 crore, the bridge was being completed for its inauguration. A video capturing the incident went viral on social media. MLA Mandal said the 100-metre bridge collapsed near Pakadiya ghat. The viral video shows three pillars of the bridge collapsing and submerging in the water. However, the remaining eight pillars were stated to be intact without any damage.

Officials in the know of the matter claimed that the bridge was ready but the work on the approach road was still in progress. "It could not be opened for the public as the approach road was yet to be completed," an official of the road construction department said, requesting anonymity.

According to the Araria district officials, the same bridge had collapsed in 2020 as well due to heavy rainfall. Twelve people, including a motorcyclist, had fallen into the Bakra river then. The bridge had collapsed near Udaghat under Jokihat police station limit that time.

Authoritative sources said that eight pillars were constructed in the third phase, while the remaining eight pillars were constructed in first and second phases. The eight pillars constructed in the first and second phase were stated to be intact.

Some local residents alleged that low quality of construction material was being used, which led to collapse of the bridge for the second time in the past two years. Araria district magistrate Inayat Khan assured of a thorough investigation into the matter.

Meanwhile, BJP lawmaker Mandal said that prime facie negligence on the part of the construction firm and officials of the rural works department appeared to be the main reason for the collapse of the bridge and loss to the state's exchequer.

Biden eases visa rules for citizenship in election yr

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT Joe Biden announced Tuesday a new potential citizenship path for immigrants married to US nationals, balancing a recent crackdown on illegal border crossers in an attempt to thread a tricky pre-election political needle.

The Biden administration has been struggling to address immigration, a divisive issue for many Americans ahead of November's presidential election. The Democrat is seeking to be tougher on illegal migrants while contrasting himself with Donald Trump, whose attempt to win back the White House is heavily centered on portraying the country as being under assault by what he calls a migrant "invasion."

Biden's action was immediately condemned by Republicans, but hailed by immigration reform activists.

The new rules will streamline the process for those who already qualify for permanent residence, by removing a requirement they leave the country as part of the application process. The new rules would apply to those present in the country for at least 10 years and married to a US citizen before June 17, 2024 – which the administration estimates to include half a million people.

In addition, some 50,000 stepchildren of US citizens would be eligible.

Those approved would be granted work authorisation and the right to stay in the United States for up to three years while they apply for the coveted green card. That would then allow them to apply later for full citizenship. "What we are announcing are potentially streamlined processes... (to) minimize the bureaucracy, minimize the hardship that having to leave the country creates," a senior administration official told reporters ahead of the announcement. However, "only Congress can deliver... comprehensive reform of our immigration and asylum laws," another official added.

Far-right House member Marjorie Taylor Greene said Biden "wrote a vote-buying free citizenship executive order."

The Biden administration is also on Tuesday set to simplify the process for children who came to the United States illegally as children – known as Dreamers – to get work visas if they've graduated college and have a "high-skilled job offer." Trump has referred to immigrants as "poisoning the blood of the country." AFP

South Korea fires warning shots after North troops cross border

SEOUL

SOUTH Korean troops fired warning shots to repel North Korean soldiers who briefly crossed the rivals' heavily fortified land border on Tuesday for the second time this month, the South's military said.

Both incursions were believed to be unintentional.

Around 20 to 30 North Korean soldiers who were doing construction work crossed the military demarcation line that serves as the border between the two countries in the Demilitarized Zone, according to South Korea's Joint Chiefs of Staff. The soldiers retreated after the South broadcasted warnings and fired warning shots, and the South's military didn't spot any suspicious activity after that, the joint chiefs said. The border area is dense with overgrown trees and plants, and the North Korean soldiers may have not known exactly where the border was, according to the South's military, which said it doesn't believe the soldiers deliberately crossed into the South. The North did not return fire.

The intrusion comes as tensions rise between the rivals, who in recent weeks made it clear they are no longer bound by their agreement in 2018. AP

Bank deposits outgrow credit by ₹1 lakh cr in May

May deposits at ₹2.7 lakh cr as against credit offtake of ₹1.7 lakh cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

BANKS' continuous efforts to mobilise deposits are finally bearing fruit with the funds mobilsed during the last fortnight of May overshooting the loans provided to customers in absolute terms. Deposits totalled at ₹2.7 trillion (₹2.7 lakh cr) as against credit offtake totalling at ₹1.7 trillion, something that has been the opposite in over two years.

Banks have been chasing deposits with attractive pricing as the people were parking their money in stocks and mutual funds which have been offering more returns. Leading banks have increased their deposit pricing many times in the past a few quarters as there were more demand for credit.

However in percentage growth terms, credit expansion is higher by 19.8% year-on-year (YoY) to reach ₹167.8 trillion for the fortnight ending May 31, 2024. In absolute terms, credit expanded by ₹27.7 trillion during the past 12 months to reach ₹167.8 trillion as of May 31, while deposits grew by 12.8% YoY for the fortnight or by ₹25.1 trillion over the last 12 months to reach ₹210.9 trillion.

However for the fortnight to May 31, in absolute terms, deposit expanded by ₹2.7 trillion as against credit expansion of ₹1.7 trillion, according to the RBI data collated by Care Ratings. While sequentially credit expansion was up only by 1%, deposits increase has been by 1.3% in the reporting fortnight, said Sanjay Agarwal, a senior director with the agency.

This has had the credit-to-deposit ratio, which has been hovering around 80 since September 2023, has declined marginally or by 20 bps to 79.6 for the fortnight ending May 31.

Deposit growth, though showing improvement, has lagged credit growth in the past year. It is expected to be prominent in FY25 as banks intensify efforts to strengthen their liability franchise. This focus aims to prevent constraints on credit uptake due to deposit growth, the agency said, adding deposit growth is likely to range between 13 and 13.5 percent in FY25.

Meanwhile, government investment to total assets ratio declined by 23 bps to 25.4 and overall government investments stood at Rs 61.8 trillion as of May 31, reporting a growth of 10.3 percent on-year, and declined by 0.3 percent sequentially.

Indus stake sale may fetch Voda $1.1 bn

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM giant Vodafone Group is all set to sell about 10% stake in Indus Towers for as much as $1.1 billion on Wednesday as a part of its efforts to repay debt.

Vodafone will sell 268 million shares in Indus Towers via block deals at a price range of ₹310 to ₹341 per share (a discount of up 10% from Tuesday's closing price), valuing the stake between $996 million and $1.1 billion. Shares of Indus Towers closed on June 18 at ₹346.45, up 1.67% on the NSE.

Last week it was reported that UK-based Vodafone was mulling to sell its entire $2.3 billion stake in Indus Towers via block deals. Vodafone currently owns 21.5% in Indus Tower via different entities. The stake sale comes months after Bharti Airtel denied reports that it was in talks to buy Vodafone's stake in Indus Towers. Airtel is Indus Towers' biggest shareholder, with 47.95% stake. Vodafone has hired Bank of America, Morgan Stanley, Jefferies and BNP Paribas to manage the deal.

It has plans to repay part of its $42.17 billion net debt using proceeds from Indus stake sale. The company in 2022 had announced it would be offloading its 28% stake but has managed to sell only a small portion so far.

Brokerage JP Morgan in a note on Tuesday said Vodafone Group's probable stake sale in the company could drive cashflows of $2.3 billion which could see accelerated repayment to vendors like Indus Tower and even drive a special dividend to the shareholders of the Indian tower company.

"As per the security package agreed upon during merger of erstwhile Bharti Infratel and Indus Towers, Vodafone's 21% stake in Indus was the primary pledge by its lenders against $1.4 billion loan Vodafone Plc taken in 2019 to participate in Idea's rights issue while Indus Towers had a secondary pledge with a maximum liability of ₹42.5 billion," said JP Morgan.

KEEPS LENDING RATE UNCHANGED

The central bank of China has kept the key lending rate unchanged as data for May showed signs of persisting weakness in the world's second largest economy's manufacturing and real estate sectors. The People's Bank of China kept its rate for 1-year medium-term lending facility loans, a benchmark for other lending rates, at 2.5%. Instead of cutting already low interest rates Beijing has focused on channeling spending to areas considered to be high priorities such as high-tech industries. The government reported Monday that factory output fell 5.6% in May from the year before, slowing from 6.7% in April, though analysts noted some impact due to more work days in this year compared with the year before. Investments in property declined 10% year-on-year and home sales sank 30.5%, suggesting a raft of measures to try to turn around a real estate slump have yet to take hold.

THAILAND

APEX BANK GUV AGAINST TWEAKING INFLATION TARGET

Sethaput Suthiwartnarueput, Governor of Bank of Thailand, on Tuesday warned that any move to raise the monetary authority's inflation target could unanchor expectations and result in quickening price gains, which carries risks for economic growth. He said raising the inflation target from current 1%-3% range increases the risk that expectations become unanchored. The Finance Ministry has sought to reset the inflation goal after consumer prices gains undershot the central bank's target for 12 months before returning within the intended range in May. The central bank has spurned repeated calls from the government for rate cuts, arguing instead that structural reforms — and not cheaper borrowing costs — are what the economy needs to spur growth.

JAPAN

CENTRAL BANK MAY RAISE RATES IN JULY: BOJ CHIEF

Kazuo Ueda, Governor of Bank of Japan, on Tuesday said the central bank could raise interest rates next month depending on economic data available at the time. Ueda's comment underscores its resolve to steadily push up borrowing costs from current near-zero levels. He said while rising import costs from a weak yen may weigh on household spending, increasing wages will underpin consumption and keep the economy on track for a moderate recovery. At its policy meeting on Friday, the BOJ decided to start trimming its huge bond purchases and announce a detailed plan in July on reducing its nearly $5 trillion balance sheet, taking another step toward unwinding its massive monetary stimulus. The decision has heightened uncertainty on whether the BOJ could also hike short-term rates at its July 30-31 meeting or hold off until later in the year to avoid upending markets.

NEW DELHI: With supportive policy interventions, investments into key infrastructure sectors such as the renewable energy and roads, and real estate are expected to grow 38% in fiscals 2025 and 2026 over the previous two fiscals to Rs 15 lakh crore, forecasts a report. Eyeing ₹1 lakh cr uniform consumer price by FY27: Titan's Venkataraman

DIPAK MONDAL @New Delhi

LIFESTYLE firm Titan company Ltd has set sight on ₹1 lakh crore uniform consumer price on a consolidated basis by 2026-27, managing director CK Venkataraman said in the company's annual report. The company has also set the target for $500 million uniform consumer price from its international operations by 2026-27.

"Proud flags of Titan Company flying in many cities across the globe and the international business eyeing an impressive $500 million in UCP value by the financial year 2026-27," said the company in its annual report.

Uniform Consumer Price is the maximum retail price of the product. The UCP value is calculated by adding MRPs of all the products and netting off the discounts, and payments made to channel and franchise partners. The manufacturer of watches, jewelleries and eyewear reported ₹47,500 crore in revenue and a net profit of ₹3,496 crore in FY24. As of June 18, the company had a market cap of ₹3.2 lakh crore. The shares of the company closed at ₹3,586 on Tuesday.

Addressing shareholders, managing director CK Venkataraman said the company has received an all-round step-jump in standards of excellence spanning product innovation, customer experience and multiple areas of operation.

The Tata Group company derives confidence for improving its reach due to factors such as likely doubling of households in top two income classes by 2030, low market share of most of its businesses and brands as well as unmatched brand value of Titan products.

After establishing strong market share in watches, jewellery and eyewear segment, the company has now ventured into other lifestyle product spectrum, with ethnic wear, smart wearables, fragrances, and women's bags.

These emerging businesses accounted for the total revenue of ₹378 crore, registering a jump of 28%.

Musiala — the starboy who chose Germany over England

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

Jamal Musiala was born in Germany before moving to England at seven | AP

WHENEVER Jamal Musiala has done something of note over the last three years or so, a decade-old post does another round on Twitter. When a then 10-year-old Musiala was playing an age-group game in UK, a poster had tweeted about the kid 'who is ludicrously good'. Nothing, perhaps, explains Musiala than this. He was so good from such a young age that he caught the eye at all youth levels. At 21, Musiala, like a few of the others, represents football's present as well as future. Against Scotland, Musiala was all twinkle toes, nimble foot and gossamer touch. The way he combined with Florian Wirtz was a joy to behold as the hosts' attacking trident (Kai Havertz being the other) overwhelmed the Scots into submission before half-time.

What makes Musiala such a joy is his ability to take the ball in tight spaces — he's so good he can receive and turn inside a phone booth — and breeze past the opposition. The ball sticks to his feet as if there's some invisible adhesive at play. Consider this: Over the last year, he's in the 99th percentile for successful take-ons per 90 minutes (4.07), 92nd percentile for pass completion rate (82.7% per 90), 93rd percentile non-penalty goals (0.41 per 90) and in the 81st percentile for touches inside the box (6.02). Granted, some of this maybe skewed as these are numbers generated for club football (stats via fbref) but this is what Germany hopes he will become in the international game as well. Against Hungary on Wednesday, the hosts will once again look up to their starboy to help provide the pizzazz. Sometime over the course of the next few weeks, Germany could be in line to face England at these Championship. At that time, England's management may well be looking on with envy across the aisle, wondering what could have been. For Musiala could have been theirs. For a period of time, it did seem like the attacking midfielder was preparing himself for a career with the Three Lions.

While he was born in Germany in 2003, he moved to the South Coast of England with his parents when he was seven (he was born to a German mother and a Nigerian-British father). When a young Musiala was doing his thing at a local club, a Chelsea scout spotted him. He was soon rising up the Chelsea ranks, even playing for their Under-18 sides at the age of 14 and 15. Considering his talent was never in doubt, he started wearing England's famous whites when he was just 13. The Football Association, who were tracking his progress (a certain Jude Bellingham was also in a few teams), were sure Musiala would go on to represent them. However, two rude shocks was around the corner. The first was Chelsea losing him to Bayern Munich before Covid. In the middle of Covid, Musiala made the announcement that he would represent Germany at the senior-most level. The midfielder who had played for his adopted homeland at the U-21 level had declared for the country of his birth (some reports suggest that he was offered a better pathway).

While England have their own version in Bellingham, Germany will be thankful Musiala declared for them. In the short-term, over the course of the next three weeks, he will form the fulcrum for Germany's tilt at winning the Euros at home.

Horses for courses in Caribbean?

While India are expected to play three spinners, pacers have done well too in West Indies

GOMESH S @Chennai

Rohit Sharma with Rahul Dravid | PTI

BOWLERS IN WI THIS T20 WC*

Type	Ovs	Wkts	AVG	ECO
Pace	461.2	181	17.52	6.8
Spin	322	106	20.24	6.66

* - Till the end of group stage

EVER since Rohit Sharma landed in the United States, one question has followed the Indian captain. When will India play four spinners as he wanted as many in the squad? To be fair, the conditions in New York were such that there was no way India were going to field more than two spinners. Rohit has reiterated as much and even explained how things might change as their campaign moves to the West Indies.

On Thursday, India will begin their Super 8s campaign and the question once again comes back. Is this time for Rohit to play an extra spinner apart from Ravindra Jadeja and Axar Patel? And if they do, Kuldeep Yadav could likely come in for Mohammed Siraj. However, nothing is certain as of now. And the numbers in the West Indies too do not paint a clear picture. In all the league games played in the Caribbean, pacers seemed to have outperformed spinners. Off the 287 wickets that were taken by bowlers in West Indies, 181 belong to pacers with Afghanistan's Fazalhaq Farooqi (12) leading the tally. Meanwhile, spinners have taken 106 wickets with Akeal Hosein (9) at the top. Teams have resorted to 322 overs of spin while bowling 461.2 overs of pace. As far as economy is concerned, there is not much of a difference — spinners: 6.6 runs per over; pacers: 6.8 RPO.

That being said, one look at the top five spinners so far, there is a clear pattern. All of them take the ball away from the right-hander (Hosein, Adam Zampa, Gudakesh Motie, Adil Rashid and Kushal Bhurtel) and India already have two of them in their playing XI. They also have Kuldeep and Yuzvendra Chahal waiting. The other factor that comes in is the timing of the matches. A lot of West Indies matches have either been afternoon or evening games so far. Farooqi has played all evening games in the group stages and has moved the ball under the lights. Against India, they will be taking the field in the morning. For Rohit, it all might come down to picking the right combination on the day. "They have the team, they have the spinners and fast bowlers too. Horses for courses would be a challenge because they have everything in them. It is a question of whether they pick the right teams when it matters most," Bharat Arun, former India bowling coach, said.

Indeed. Whether they get it right or not, we will have the answer on Thursday.

SUPER 8s BEGINS

South Africa take on United States while West Indies face England. A look...

CAN USA PUSH THE PROTEAS?

South Africa might have won all four games, but most of those games had some jeopardy well into the second half. The road has not been smooth. USA would want to continue the trend, pushing the limits against Proteas.

BUTTLER & CO SEEK TURNAROUND

They have been through a bumpy ride and barely made it to the Super 8 stages. However, rule defending champs out at your own peril. With a clear sight on what's needed, Jos Buttler's England will be looking get their act together against WI.

FORMER Indian cricketers WV Raman and Gautam Gambir were among the candidates who were interviewed for the India men's head coach role on Tuesday. The interviews are expected to continue on Wednesday as well.

With the current head coach Rahul Dravid's term not being extended, the BCCI had invited applications for the role last month. Gambhir, who mentored Kolkata Knight Riders to IPL title, and former women's national team head coach Raman were among the applicants who had thrown their hat in the ring for the top coaching job. On Tuesday, both of them attended an interview in front of the Cricket Advisory Committee, featuring Jatin Paranjape, Ashok Malhotra and Sulakshana Naik, to present their case. Raman was the head of the women's team from 2018 till 2021 while Gambhir has mentored LSG and KKR in the IPL.

India's next international assignment will be the tour of Zimbabwe next month, in which a lot of youngsters are expected to make the team.

Curious case of Richa's role in ODIs

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

"WE believe that she can be a good top-order player. We believe in her talent." That was India's head coach Amol Muzumdar when Richa Ghosh fell agonisingly close to what could have been her maiden ODI century against Australia in December last year.

All the praise the wicket-keeper batter received despite India's narrow loss was absolutely valid. Till that series, in her short career with the national side, Ghosh had never batted at three. To take up that position and come out as India's second-highest run-scorer behind Jemimah Rodrigues against the no 1 ranked team was no mean feat.

The planning for the ODIs took a back seat after a 3-0 series loss against Australia. With Ghosh raising her stocks as a finisher for the Women's Premier League champions Royal Challengers Bengaluru, she continued to bat in the lower-middle order in T20Is.

Cut to June 2024. Dayalan Hemalatha walked in at three in the first ODI against South Africa and Ghosh was at six. Neither contributed a lot and if not for Smriti Mandhana's ton, India would have been in trouble. It did raise a lot of eyebrows when after announcing number three as the best possible position for her to bat, the team management asked Ghosh to go back to No 6. Maybe there are some experiments going on with the batting order.

AMERICAN BLOCKBUSTER

The Summer of sport is well underway. While the Euros continues, on the other side of Atlantic, the Americas will be duelling across the length and breadth of US in the Copa America from Thursday. First up, a look at Group A...

ARGENTINA

The defending champions have arrived in the US with a full-strength squad. As ever, Lionel Messi, who now plays his club football in the US, will be the cynosure of all eyes. But the world champions have gone from strength to strength. They have conceded only four goals in 14 matches. Their midfielders (Alexis Mac Allister, Enzo Fernandez, Rodrigo de Paul and Giovani lo Celso) control games and are very adept at slowing it down or quickening the tempo. Are favourites to retain crown.

PERU

In this group, nobody will be as defensive as Peru. Their positional discipline while not having the ball will be key if they are to punch above their weight in the continent. It maybe early days in the World Cup qualification but they are already walking the tightrope with two draws and four losses in six games. Veteran Paulo Guerrero will be a familiar face but at 40, one wonders if he will have settle for a bit part role.

CHILE

Have had a fairly ordinary start to life in the World Cup qualifiers (won one in the first six games). There's isn't a lot of talent coming through right now (the likes of Mauricio Isla, Alexis Sanchez, Gary Medal and Eduardo Vargas continuing to be big picks) but Dario Osorio, the 20-year-old from Midttjylland, could put himself in the shop window with an impressive performance.

CANADA

Under a new manager — American Jesse Marsch — their task will be keep building towards the 2026 World Cup. In a recent friendly, they held France to a 0-0 draw. As is the norm these days, they will be headlined by the quality of Jonathan David and Alphonso Davies. Midfielder Tajon Buchanan, who plays his club football at Inter, could be another to keep an eye on. This is going to be their Copa debut.

Women's trap: Rajeshwari Kumari;
Men's skeet: Anantjeet Singh Naruka;
Women's skeet: Maheshwari Chauhan, Raiza Dhillon; Skeet mixed team: Anantjeet/Maheshwari.

THE shotgun squad for the upcoming Paris Olympics is out. As was expected, the National Rifle Association of India (NRAI) had to make some tough decisions with Bhowneesh Mendiratta and Ganemat Sekhon missing out. Trap shooter Bhowneesh, who had earned the country's first quota in 2022, had finished fourth in the ongoing ISSF World Cup in Lonato del Garda (Italy). A podium finish could have possibly earned him that much-needed push. Two-time World Cup medallist, Prithviraj Tondaiman, was preferred by instead.

It was a similar tale for Ganemat. The skeet shooter had reached the six-woman final on Monday before being eliminated. Quota winners, Maheshwari Chauhan and Raiza Dhillon, will be leading the charge in women's skeet event. "There was intense competition for places and things could have changed in case some shooters medalled at the Lonato World Cup... But we believe that we have a great shotgun team," K Sultan Singh, NRAI secretary general, said in a statement.

REAL TO REALITY

Sarita may make her Big Boss debut

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

Wrestler Sarita Mor with actor Jackie Shroff and her husband Rahul Mann

WITH her Olympic dream 'almost' over, the 2021 World Championships bronze medallist wrestler Sarita Mor is chasing a different vocation. After pinning grapplers on the mat, the wrestler will now look to pin housemates down on reality shows. Yes you have heard it right. She could make her television debut in the next few months. The Haryana wrestler, who was ranked World No. 1 in 59kg in 2022 by the United World Wrestling, can be seen as a participant in the upcoming season of Bigg Boss. While the Bigg Boss OTT 3 is scheduled to premiere on June 21, the reality show is expected to be aired on TV in September.

Sarita, however, doesn't plan to quit wrestling and is expected to continue competing at least until 2026. "She hasn't competed at the Olympics despite her long career in the sport, which is why we were hopeful of her participation in the Paris. But now that seems to be over, so after much deliberation we have decided to look for other options," Rahul Mann, Sarita's husband and coach, told this daily.

Given her impending goal to compete at the world's biggest sporting extravaganza, Sarita was relying heavily on the selection trials to challenge Anshu Malik. Sarita along with her husband also trained at the USA earlier this year to prepare for the trials. However, it was later decided that the quota winners would represent the country in the 2024 Games and the proposed trials were shelved. "We (Sarita and me) visited Mumbai last week I have known Bollywood actor Jackie Shroff for quite some time now. We met him and his son Tiger Shroff. A few projects are in pipeline including Bigg Boss. Sarita is interested in foraying into movies or reality shows," added Mann.

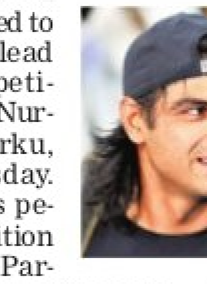
Returning Neeraj wins in Paavo Nurmi Games

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai



WITH about six weeks remaining for the Paris Olympics, Neeraj Chopra seems to be getting into his best strides. The Olympic and world champion managed to throw 85.97m to lead the javelin competition at the Paavo Nurmi Games in Turku, Finland on Tuesday. This could be his penultimate competition before heading to Paris in July. The competition did not have monstrous throws.

His best throw came in third attempt but that was also modest by his standards. His first two throws in the series — 83,62m and 83,45m — showed conditions were not conducive. After opening the season with a second finish in the Doha Diamond League where he touched 88.36m mark, he had a modest outing in India a few days later in May. He missed the Ostrava meet after he felt something in his adductor and this is his first major competition after a month.

Local boy Toni Keranen threw the spear to a distance of 84.19m to finish second while his teammate Oliver Helandar was third with a throw of 83.96. Other top throwers like former world champion Anderson Peters and young sensation Max Dehning of Germany too failed to impress.

WHAT SLOWS THE CORE

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE

DEEP below the Earth's surface on which we stand, move about, and life continues, is an intensely hot hub of seismic and geological activity.

Planet Earth is a complex ball of rock, metals, and minerals, held together by gravity. The structure of the planet is divided into four major layers: the crust (which is right beneath our feet) – made up mostly of rock, 4.8-69-km thick); the mantle – composed of silicates, 2,900-km thick; the outer core – composed of liquid iron and nickel, 2,200-km thick; and the inner core – the radius of the planet, which is made up of blazing hot iron, nickel and sulphur, 1,200-km thick. Each layer has a unique chemical composition, mechanics, and physical state, which can impact life on Earth's surface.

It is theoretically impossible to venture to the deepest central point below the Earth's surface. Information about the core mostly comes from the analyses of seismic waves and the planet's magnetic field. However, research is certain that the temperature rises exponentially, deeper into the Earth's surface. The Earth's centre – the inner core – is its hottest layer, with temperatures up to 5,500 degrees Celsius. Due to its immense heat energy discharge, the inner core is considered to be the Earth's engine room. The inner core's actions determine how Earth's other properties, including life, play out.

Primarily, the Earth's core is responsible for the generation of the planet's magnetic field, and contains information regarding the earliest history of its accretion. When the core formed, some thermal and compositional features were established which controlled its subsequent evolution. These features also influenced the evolution of the mantle, crust, and the atmosphere.

According to the Australian National University, despite its small volume (less than 1% of the Earth's volume), the inner core contains about 10% of the total magnetic field energy. "The inner core plays a crucial role in outer core liquid motions and the geodynamo, which generates the Earth's magnetic field. Without the magnetic field, life on Earth would be impossible," it says.

The magnetic field thus generated protects the planet from cosmic radiation of the Sun's charged particles. It also provides direction for navigation on the planet's surface by demarcating poles, distinguishes regions on the Earth, and balances the natural order of things. Scientists also suggest that movement in the mantle caused by variations in heat from the core, causes the seismic plates to shift, which can trigger earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. These natural calamitous occurrences change our landscape, and threaten lives and property.

Rotation puzzle

The Earth's rotation singularly depends on the functioning of the inner core, which also determines the prevalence of day and night.

At the equator, the distance covered is equal to Earth's circumference of 40,075 km, and the average speed of the planet's rotation is about 1,670 kmph. Scientific models have predicted that the inner core rotates 3 degrees per year faster than the mantle, a phenomenon that is known as 'super-rotation'. Movement of the inner core has been debated by the scientific community for two decades, with some research indicating that it rotates faster than the planet's surface. In 2004, the National Science Foundation's Earth Sciences Division had analysed that the inner core rotates in the same direction as the Earth, but slightly faster. However, a new study has provided "unambiguous evidence" that the Earth's inner core began to slow down its rotation since 2010, compared to the planet's surface. Researchers have said that the slowing down could change the length of a day on the Earth by fractions of a second. Scientists at the University of Southern California (USC) have proven that the Earth's inner core is backtracking – slowing down – in relation to the planet's surface, as shown in new research published in the journal, Nature.

"When I first saw the seismograms that hinted at this change, I was stumped," says John Vidale, Dean's Professor of Earth Sciences at the USC Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, adding, "But when we found two dozen more observations signalling the same pattern, the result was inescapable. The inner core had slowed down for the first time in many decades. Other scientists have recently argued for similar and different models, but our latest study provides the most convincing resolution."

The inner core is considered to be reversing and backtracking relative to the planet's surface due to moving slightly slower instead of faster than the Earth's mantle for the first time in approximately 40 years. Relative to its speed in previous decades, the inner core is slowing down. Vidale and Wei Wang of the Chinese Academy of Sciences utilised waveforms and repeating earthquakes in contrast to other studies. Repeating earthquakes are seismic events that occur at the same location to produce identical seismograms.

Already an American sensation, Pickleball in now Bengaluru's favourite pastime, with an endorsement by none other than Bill Gates

HAVING A BALL

MONIKA MONALISA

PICKLEBALL... Surely it rings a bell. With its growing popularity both internationally and nationally, the sport has become a sensation among fitness enthusiasts and those seeking a new hobby. Notably, the game has caught the interest of Microsoft founder and philanthropist Bill Gates. At 68, Gates revealed in a podcast with Zerodha co-founder Nikhil Kamath that he plays the game regularly.

Bengalureans have also embraced the sport. Fitness expert Meghana Rabindranath started playing a year ago and remains a dedicated player. "One of the best aspects of the game is that it is low-intensity. In tennis, you need to be fit to play properly, whereas in pickleball, you can pick it up after just 30 minutes. In the USA, it's considered a centenarian sport because many senior citizens play it," says Rabindranath, adding that it is a great form of fitness sport, offering almost a full-body workout.

Similarly, Senthur Karthik discovered the game while in the USA. "I appreciate the simplicity of the game and how it's not daunting to pick up the racket and play. The risk of injuries is also quite low," says Karthik.

The sport has now reached competitive levels. Rajath Kankar, General Secretary of the Indian Pickleball Association and Karnataka State Pickleball Association, notes its increasing momentum with more tournaments and championships. "This sport is gaining popularity for three main reasons: fitness, competition, and recreation. The Indian Pickleball Association now includes 17 states, with Karnataka being one of them. We are now pushing for its official inclusion in the Olympics and Commonwealth Games," says Kankar, speaking from New Delhi, where he is attending a tournament with his students.

The game's popularity has also encouraged entrepreneurial ventures. Arjun Sondur, a hedge fund professional, plans to build a facility with both pickleball and paddleball courts, featuring amenities such as cafes and top-notch changing rooms. "With cities becoming crowded, it's challenging for people to find space to play sports. Yet, the demand for racquet sports is high. Badminton courts are always at full capacity, and pickleball offers a healthier recreational option. The demand for racquet sports, in general, is significant," explains Sondur.

Pickle vs Paddle

Mostly confused as the same game, pickleball and paddle ball have their differences. Pickleball courts are the same size as badminton courts, 22-ft by 40-ft.

Paddleball is played on a court that is 20-ft wide and either 34-ft or 40-ft long, without a net. Padel ball uses a less pressurised tennis ball, while pickleball uses an entirely plastic ball with between 26 and 40 holes on it

Dancer-scholar Anwesa Mahanta speaks about her upcoming lecture demonstration on the Sattriya dance tradition of Assam and the challenges in promoting the art form

Sacred rhythms from Assam

POOJA DAS

MOVEMENT that personifies grace and vigour, echoing tales of devotion with intricate visual poetry that is hard to define without experiencing it firsthand. That is the hallmark of Sattriya dance, one of the major classical dance forms of India, originating from Assam. Renowned for her dedication to the Sattriya dance tradition, dancer-scholar Anwesa Mahanta is bringing her solo lecture demonstration Living the Past, Dancing in the Present to the city this week.

"Sattriya dance, though an ancient form, is not widely seen outside Assam. Unlike Bharatnatyam, Kathak, or Odissi, it's not regularly showcased. That's why, along with a live demonstration, I will be sharing the dance form's history, its repertoire, and some archival recordings of how the dance is presented ritually," shares Mahanta, who has won the national award Ustad Bismillah Khan Yuva Puraskar from Sangeet Natak Akademi for the year 2013.

Mahanta's journey into the world of Sattriya dance is deeply rooted in her upbringing within the Vaishnavite monastery or Satra. Recalling her early years, she says, "I belong to a Vaishnavite monastery, which we call Satra, where I was introduced to the entire ritualistic space of the Sattriya tradition. That environment definitely left a deep imprint on my mind. I also witnessed the traditional Sattriya theatre, which we call Bhaona, during my childhood. So, when I was a kid, that was my first exposure to the power of performance and how an actor transforms during the process."

This immersion in her cultural heritage from a young age laid the foundation for her lifelong passion and dedication to Sattriya. The dance form dates back to the 15th-16th centuries as a medium to bring people together through art. "Sattriya has its own distinct features, from its rhythmic structure to its literature, language, and costume," explains Mahanta. Rooted in Vaishnavism, the themes of Sattriya dance mostly revolve around the incarnations of Lord Vishnu, often drawing from the philosophical ideas in the Bhagavata Purana. Mahanta emphasises, "It's a storytelling tradition, but it's deeply philosophical. Stories serve as metaphors to communicate broader ideas." Her concluding piece in the upcoming show will reflect this philosophical depth.

For over 25 years, Mahanta has been an active performer and a dedicated scholar of Sattriya, trained under maestro Bayanacharya Ghanakanta Bora. "As a practitioner and scholar, I have always tried to share as much as we can about the heritage of Assam, and Sattriya dance is a significant part of that heritage," says Mahanta, who also curates festivals to promote these traditional art forms of Assam.

Speaking of the challenges, she points out, "When I was doing my PhD at Delhi University, it was very difficult because references in English were missing in the field of Sattriya. In Assamese, we had many references, but in English, there was very little not only about Sattriya but also about the cultural heritage of Assam. That has been one of the primary challenges in my work." However, she says that things are changing. "You cannot change everything all of a sudden. But, one step at a time, we can shift the perspective of the younger generation, making these traditional art forms more accessible. At the same time, we must find newer ways to intersect art forms on the global stage," says Mahanta.

('Living the Past, Dancing in the Present' will be staged on June 20, 7 pm at the Bangalore International Centre, Domlur. RSVP at bangaloreinternationalcentre.org)

How to embrace creativity as a lifestyle?

Anyone with an interest can grow their creativity as a hobby or professionally with a bit of regular practice.

Start: Stock up on some basic supplies: pens, scissors, coloured paper, A5 cards, and A2 sheets. Start working with basic geometric shapes, then move to figurative designs. Experiment freely, practice with birthday wishes on the A5 cards, or make your own wrapping paper on the A2 sheets.

Play: Creativity knows no limits. Think of new ways to look at things around you. Redesign your jar labels in the kitchen, play Lego, come up with cool names for street animals, build a tent in the living room, or find new ways to plate your favourite dish. The world is your canvas, so be playful, curious and open.

SAVASANA VARIATION SIDE BOLSTER

(CORPSE POSE VARIATION SIDE BOLSTER)

This is a variation of the base pose, Side Lying Corpse Pose, and forms part of a restorative yoga sequence. It is a relaxing pose done by lying on one side of the body in a yoga sequence where the focus is on breathing into the side ribs and on the gentle opening of the hips. Using a bolster gives the body additional support, particularly when resting in the pose for a longer duration, which removes fatigue caused by the other yoga poses. It can help work better with some of the students, like older people, pregnant women, or those recovering from surgery in the knees or pelvis.

STEPS

- Keep a bolster handy. Lie down in a supine position, placing the bolster vertically on the right side of your body at hip level.
- Keep the legs and toes together, with hands on the side of the body.
- Take a few breaths here.
- Place your right hand under your head and roll over to the right side as you exhale.
- Keep your left leg on top of the right leg.
- Ensure that you are breathing naturally without any external force.
- Exhale, keep the left knee on the bolster with the hip and knee in one line.
- Place your left hand on the side of your hips.
- Ensure that the head is in a comfortable position.
- Keep the abdomen, facial muscles, and your jaw relaxed.
- Avoid clenching your teeth while practising the pose.
- Take a few breaths here.
- Feel the energy flow from brain to the body.
- Straighten the left leg, come to the supine posture.
- Repeat the practice on the other side after resting for a few minutes.

BENEFITS

- Engages hip flexors, gluteus, pelvic floor, psoas muscles, quadriceps, and hamstrings.
- Strengthens and tones the leg muscles.
- Increases flexibility and range of motion around the hip muscles.
- Releases the accumulated stress and tension.
- Opens the chest, encouraging deep breathing.
- Keeps the body relaxed.
- Brings awareness to the pelvis, thighs, knees, and foot.
- Aids a smooth flow of prana throughout the body, with the Samana Vayu getting relaxed.
- Calms the nervous system.
- Increases the supply of blood to the pelvic area.
- Ideal for relaxing, sleeping, or practicing Yoga Nidra.
- Aids in relieving sciatic pain.

LIMITATIONS

- If anyone is recovering from an injury to the hips, knees, or sides of the abdomen, place one arm below the head and practise it for a longer duration. If you feel uncomfortable lying on the right side, avoid this.
- Those who have frequent migraine, cervical issues, or neck pain should consider using a blanket, cushion, etc., to support and elevate the head.
- Students with weak pelvic joints and pregnant women should take precautions.

Finding faith through fiction

Nalini Ramachandran, in her latest book, attempts to construe the sensitive subject of faith, the queries, complexities, and curiosity tethered to it

MEGHANA SREE R

FAITH – a simple word that represents entire worlds for different people. Faith is what leads us to worship, pray, and believe in something that roots us. There are a myriad of faiths that bring guiding light into people's lives. When curious children first encounter this concept, the sheer number of beliefs across humanity might seem to be a vast concept to grasp. This is because they are not only navigating their own connection to faith, but they're also learning to understand and respect other faiths.

Undoubtedly, this subject requires sensitivity and great knowledge to make it accessible for children. This is where author, editor and storyteller, Nalini Ramachandran's latest book, The Boy with a Hundred Questions: Stories of Faith and Belief (HarperCollins Children's Books; ₹499), comes in.

She finds a special joy in authoring children's books and graphic novels. With expertise and great care to make it not only informative but also an enjoyable read and a visual delight for young readers with its wonderful illustrations by Shruti Hemani, Ramachandran's book is a must-have on family bookshelves.

In a conversation with CE, she delves into the process of writing the book, the challenges she faced, how she managed to make The Boy with a Hundred Questions a special read, and more. Excerpts:

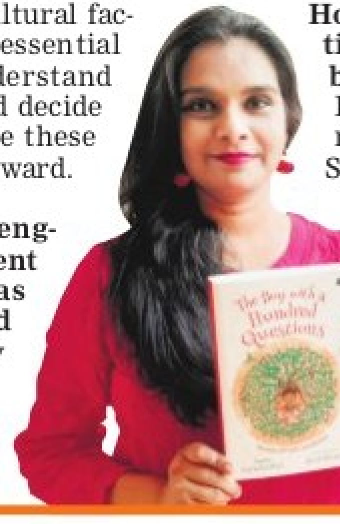
What inspired you to write this book?
The Boy with a Hundred Questions is a book that explores concepts, teachings, and stories from eleven major faith systems from around the world. I have often come across toddlers imitating their parents at places of worship – they join their hands in prayer, bow their head in front of the shrine, offer flowers, and try to repeat chants. Once children grow up, they want to know why they follow such practises, and why people around them have different beliefs. Many parents find it difficult to explain these aspects and answer their child's questions. The need to bridge this gap inspired me to write the book.

How did you manage to tackle such a complex concept like faith for young readers?
Storytelling has been used since ancient times to explain complex ideas. In this book, too, I have woven the story of the protagonist (Shunya, a nine-year-old child) and the story of belief, along with stories from various faith systems, to help readers understand the concept more easily.

In your opinion, why is faith an important concept children should read about?
Faith is all around us. Human evolution and the spread of faith have been parallel. Even today, the languages we speak, the traditions we follow, the foods we cook, and the festivals we celebrate are all rooted in faith. Children grow up surrounded by these cultural factors. So, it is essential that they understand their roots and decide on how to take these ways of life forward.



Was it challenging to represent all the faiths as accurately and respectfully as possible?
When respect for all faiths comes naturally, it becomes simpler to depict them authentically. I believe that is the only way a book such as this could have been created.

Could you explain the research process?
The research on faith and beliefs, I would say, is an ongoing or never-ending process. Writing a book like this is a journey in learning and discovery. Every question, conversation, and experience from my life has been part of the background research for this book. But yes, specific research for the content included selecting meaningful concepts and interesting faith stories, and ensuring their authentic representation.

Upon reading the book, it was immediately evident that the language was easy to follow and also relatable. Was this important for you to maintain?
One can get stuck in jargon and terminology, when writing about faith. So, while it was important to explain certain terms, the language had to be simple enough so that the book reaches as many readers as possible. Moreover, to add local flavour and authenticity to the characters from different parts of the world, some regional language and colloquial words have been included in the dialogues.

How did the illustrations help bring the book to life?
Illustrations play a significant role in the book. Shruti Hemani has done a fabulous job. Not only has she been creative with the doppelgänger and faith story illustrations, but she has also brought out the essence of every concept through her art for the chapter openers and the symbolic motifs.

Speaking of the doppelgängers, how did you come up with the idea of using this concept to express different people following different faiths?
I wanted to find a narrative thread that could show how the eleven major faith systems mentioned in the book are different, and yet are alike in some ways. That is when the idea of using doppelgängers occurred to me. Because they, too, are different people, and are yet characterised by some similarities. This became the factor that helps Shunya in finding answers to the questions in his head.

At the end of each chapter, Shunya poses a few questions which also seem addressed to the readers. Was this intentional?
It is highly likely that the questions that Shunya asks are also the very questions that readers have in real life. So, the questions at the end of each chapter will make the readers pause and think. And then, they continue to the next chapter – journeying along with Shunya to find some more answers and read some more stories, all the time discovering themselves and forming their own ideas of faith.

Would you classify your book as exclusively children's literature, or can adults read it too?
Both children and grown-ups have questions about faith. Also, some adults may not know how to find answers and the connections between beliefs. The Boy with a Hundred Questions is for every inquisitive person who has questions about beliefs and life itself. Their age does not matter.

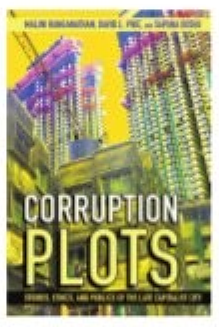
Book discussion on June 22



Join Malini Ranganathan, writer and associate professor, Department of Environment, Development and Health, American University, Washington, DC for a discussion on her new book, Corruption Plots: Stories, Ethics, and Publics of the Late Capitalist City. The book, based on ethnographic fieldwork, examines 'corruption plots' in Bengaluru and Mumbai. Challenging conventional views, the book suggests that corruption is more than just illegality or bribery; it is a narrative practice imbued with ethical significance. It raises critical questions: Why are certain actions labelled as corruption while others are not? Why do corruption allegations sometimes dominate public discourse, only to fade away at other times? The event will be held on June 22, 6.30pm at Bangalore International Centre, Domlur.

WE ARE A 'HORN'Y NATION

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

WE are a nation of honkers. We love to honk on the streets, on highways, and in our colonies. The reason Buddha was able to invent Vipassana meditation while sitting in Bodh Gaya, was because there were no vehicles at the time. I daresay if there was Indian traffic around him, Buddha would have been the god of war and violence. Instead of Laughing Buddha, we'd all have miniatures of him wielding an axe, tongue sticking out, eyes red with rage. The amount of honking on Indian roads is enough to shake your soul.

India is a nation of languages. The People's Linguistic Survey of India reveals that there are 780 languages in India. It was obvious that we would turn honking into a language too. A language with a code of its own. When the light turns green in traffic, we honk so that the person in front of us moves. Which strangely results in the most honking occurring when people are stationary, under a green light! Autos have their own code – going 'peep-peep' on the sides of the road to serenade customers. Bikers' horns are like a mating call to the Lunas and cycles of the world.

As a nation with a rich history of music, it was obvious that we would turn horns into music too. Remember ringtones? Trucks have their own renditions of evergreen hits – the 'horn-tones'. For years, truck horns sang out Pardesi Pardesi while making a blind turn. But over the last two decades, Dhoom Machale Dhoom Machale has been the No. 1 Chartbuster. I love the idea of making the horn musical. In a nation used to horns, they chose to say 'Hey man, move out of my way. But listen to this song while you're at it'. It's an example of perfectly polite Indian chaos. For young rebels on their bikes, horns are a way of marking their territory. They are called 'dog horns', which is honestly offensive to dogs. Some people attach a truck horn to their bikes. They are restricted by budgets, but not by ambition. It is no surprise that our ambulances are so loud. Having to wade through a sea of horns, they are loud enough for aliens to call and ask 'Did someone call us? Is Rakesh Roshan making another of those Krrish movies?'.

It's no surprise then that when we hear the official IPL sound, we all scream. Before he left, Lalit Modi figured out our addiction to horn sounds. When I try to play racing games like Need for Speed, the lack of any honking completely throws me off my tracks. Noise-cancellation earphones don't stand a chance on Indian roads. When I plug in my high-end, designed-in-California (made in China) earbuds in traffic, I end up listening to a symphony of horns. The bagpipe-like horns of bikes, and the tuba-like horns of trucks.

I am a firm believer in democratic structures. But if I were allowed one autocratic decision, I would ration out the number of horns a vehicle is allowed to make in a day. Allotted strictly on a need-to-honk basis, bikes will be allowed three honks a day, five for cars, and 10 for autos. Buses and trucks can use up to 20 honks a day. It will teach us to be judicious with our horns. Got hit by an auto? One honk to let others know you've fallen. A car overtook you from the left? One honk for your choicest swear word. It's a policy that needs urgent implementation. If needed, please go ahead and name it the 'Pradhan Mantri Horn Bajana Band Karo, Yaar Yojana'. Jai Hind!

Imran and the Military

November 2022.

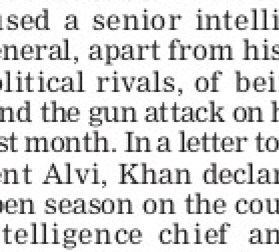
"One afternoon in May 2018, I stepped into Aleem Khan's office in Gulberg, Lahore. I had to interview Imran Khan, and Aleem's plush and tastefully decorated office was the venue. The General Election was just around the corner. There was an air of excitement and anticipation in the air. 'Nicely done!' I complimented Aleem on the decor as we waited and made small talk in one of the seating areas. Aleem smiled and said he brought most of the furniture from Dubai. At that time, Aleem was considered close to Imran, along with Jahangir Khan Tareen, and their financial support was vital for the political party. After a short wait, Khan arrived, dressed in his signature crisp white shalwar qameez. 'Get me a coffee,' Khan told someone in the bevy of people following him. A takeaway coffee was quickly brought in from a nearby Dunkin' Donuts. Imran took a sip as we sat down in Aleem's upstairs office. I noticed a certain buoyancy in Khan that day, quite different from my past interactions with him. It was as if he was assured of winning the upcoming election.

The primary reason was that the powerful military establishment had thrown its weight behind Khan. I prodded him about this support in the interview and detailed it in the article I wrote for the New York Times titled Imran Khan warms to Pakistan's military. His political fortune rose. Khan subsequently won the August 2018 elections, and for the most part of his three-and-a-half-year rule, he enjoyed a close, almost unprecedented, working relationship with the military. But today, Imran and the military find themselves on different sides. The public fallout after Imran was ousted from power earlier in 2022 has been bitter, loud, and messy.

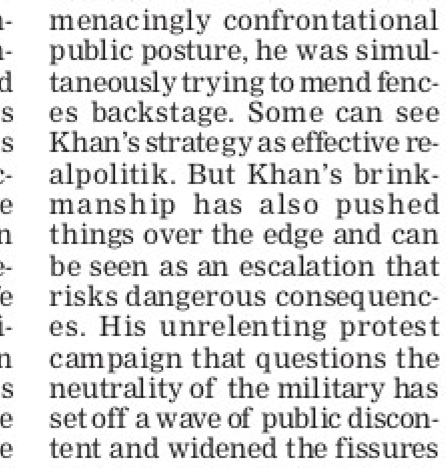
In recent interviews, Imran Khan has said that Aleem Khan, the ally turned-foe, is one of the two main reasons he had disagreements with the army chief, Gen. Bajwa. This is only partially true, and the disagreements ran far deeper. Khan's challenge to his powerful benefactors has set the stage for a confrontation like never before. Imran feels unstoppable because of the unwavering public support, and he has increased the stakes every time the military has tried to subdue him. He has accused a senior intelligence general, apart from his main political rivals, of being behind the gun attack on his life last month. In a letter to President Alvi, Khan declared an open season on the country's intelligence chief and the chief spokesperson of the army, seeking action against both generals for a public press conference against him.

While Khan has taken aim at these officers, it is obvious that his real target is elsewhere. In public appearances, Khan has launched powerful tirades against the role of the security establishment in the country's politics. He has questioned the overgrown influence and the overarching role. But many are left confused about the real motive. Has Imran become the torchbearer of civilian supremacy, or is he just blackmailing the military into submission by raising the constant spectre of violence and mass protests?

Even Khan is hard-pressed to clearly answer this question, as was evident by his recent interview with TRT TV. The press conference by the director-general of ISI and the director-general of ISPR revealed that while Khan had a menacingly confrontational public posture, he was simultaneously trying to mend fences backstage. Some can see Khan's strategy as effective realpolitik. But Khan's brinkmanship has also pushed things over the edge and can be seen as an escalation that risks dangerous consequences. His unrelenting protest campaign that questions the neutrality of the military has set off a wave of public discontent and widened the fissures that already exist in the country's polity. It is a genie that even Imran cannot put back in the bottle.



Salman Masood



The new army chief will be faced with an immediate set of challenges, with hardly any time to settle down. The bitter political residue of the past few months will weigh heavily, and Imran's politics can exert pressure on the apolitical vows of the top brass. Even if the new chief decides to placate Khan in some way, history tells us that he will find it impossible to cede the proverbial power to a civilian challenger."

A SHARADHAA

EKAM, the debut web series of Rakshit Shetty's Paramvah Studios, finally has a release date. It will stream exclusively on its platform, www.*ekam*theseries.com, on July 13 for Rs 149. "We built a platform from scratch for a great viewing experience. Now, we are bringing Ekam to you at the price of a movie ticket," said Sumanth Bhat in the announcement video. The goal, according to the showrunners, is to tell rooted stories and share them with the world.

Rakshit revealed through a social media post that, despite completing the series in 2021, no mainstream OTT platform was willing to stream a Kannada show. Determined to share Ekam with the world, he decided to release it independently.

Ekam spans multiple geographies, cultures, people, and lifetimes. In today's polarised world, the series aims to remind us of our shared experiences and common quality of being human. Its first season presents seven stories of people from Karavali, the coastal belt of Karnataka. These stories—like those of Keshava Mama, Devadathan, Manjula, and Khushi—explore universal themes of bewilderment, identity crises, euphoria, pain, joy, and freedom.

Powder gets a new release date

The comedy film, produced by KRG Studios and TVF, stars Diganth, Dhanya Ramkumar, Sharmiela Mandre, and Rangayana Raghu

CE FEATURES

THE comedy film Powder, which marks the first collaboration between KRG Studios and TVF, was initially slated for a July 14 release, but it has now been pushed back to August 15. The makers are encashing the holiday season, confident about competing with multiple films. The film stars Diganth Manchale, Dhanya Ramkumar, Sharmiela Mandre, and Rangayana Raghu. A source close to team Powder revealed that the film, now in post-production, required intricate computer graphics work, which has caused the delay and cost as much as a small film's budget. According to the makers, the final 15 minutes of Powder are set to offer audiences a thrilling, never-before-seen experience, a roller coaster ride.

Powder follows the misadventures of a group of down-on-their-luck youngsters who hatch a scheme to get rich quickly. Their ambitious plans, however, are constantly thwarted as they encounter a slew of enemies and frenemies along the way.

The film is directed by Janardhan Chikanna, as well as produced by Karthik Gowda and Yogi G Raj, along with TVF. The first song from Powder will be out early next week. The track, which marks the collaboration between noted rapper MC Bijju and musician Vasuki Vaibhav, is expected to become a youth anthem and linger in the minds of young audiences for a long time.

Between sunsets

NAMRATA JOSHI

A LOT can happen between one sunset and another. Runar Runarsson's When the Light Breaks, the opening film of the Un Certain Regard section of the Cannes Film Festival, takes the viewer gently through a seemingly ordinary but catastrophic day in the life of a Reykjavik University arts student, Una (Elin Hall). It is the 24 hours that alter the present and the future for her, irrevocably.

One evening, we find Una making plans with her boyfriend Diddi (Baldur Einarsson) about whether to travel to Japan or the Faroe Islands. The next evening is all about trying to cope with his unforeseen death and battling with her complicated emotions for his official partner Klara (Katla Njalsdottir) who he had promised to break up from to finally be with Una. From the promise of not being forced to hide their relationship anymore, it's back to a veil of secrecy.

The Icelandic film, whose original title Ljosbrot translates as "Refraction", deals with some familiar, oft-explored themes—the unpredictability of life, the truth and finality of mortality, and the repercussions of sudden death on those that the dead leave behind. What makes it distinctive is the spotlighting of teenagers' first encounter with loss and grief. As Una says: "I've never lost someone before."

Added to that are the complex emotions accompanying bereavement. They force the pain to remain unexpressed, unshared and unresolved as Una deals with mourning, rather the lack of it. There is the guilt of being in a clandestine relationship, almost like trespassing into another person's love life by becoming the proverbial other woman. The jealousy for the sympathy that she can get but the denial of her own rightful measure of it. Isn't the loss the same for both, if not more? "Why is everyone sorry for her [Klara] and not for me?" asks Una.

It's the flip side that's heartwarming. The comfort and warmth of familiar friendships with Gunni, Bassi and Siggi, but, most so, the unlikely bonding, camaraderie and solidarity formed with the very person that one may have betrayed in the past. While Una writhes in pain at Diddi-Klara being referred to as a "perfect couple", Klara unknowingly confesses her insecurity about a beautiful Una joining Diddi's band and the difficulty of carrying on with a long-distance relationship with him.

There's something heart-tugging about their last conversation as the sun sets and they wonder how strange it will be to wake up the following day. What will they do? "Diddi is the sun we are going to say goodbye to," they say, as the second sunset becomes all about coming full circle to unspoken confessions, continuity and hope after hitting the depths of anguish and despair. It takes a moment for everything to collapse and a moment for all the contradictions to get reconciled.

Everything about the 82-minute film is succinct but significant. Be it the terse narrative, the minimalistic play with emotions, the incipient sense of calm hiding the underlying turbulence, the intimate yet simultaneously non-intrusive camera of Sophia Olsson and the plaintive, resonant music by Johann Johannsson.

Pivotal, of course, is Hall's off-the-wall yet extremely likeable presence as Una. There's a weariness to her in having travelled the world and lived out of suitcases for five years with her parents. Yet an unflinching curiosity for the lives of others. Hall brings out the dualities with ease and spontaneity. She is utterly disarming in her freaky vulnerability, tender in her steeliness and her lowkey performance is profoundly stirring. Like her, there's a deceptive quietude to the film as well, but one which harbours a wealth of emotions.

LOVE is a complex emotion that goes beyond what we feel on the surface. Hiding under its swoony layer are individuals reacting to it in myriad ways. The 2003 teenage-romance Ishq Vishk explored how a new, emerging generation in the post-liberalisation era engaged with love. Starring Shahid Kapoor, Amrita Rao and Shenaz Treasurywala in their Hindi film debuts, Ishq Vishk delves into the uncertainties and anxieties that accompany the feeling. Around twenty years later, Ishq Vishk Rebound speaks of a newer generation of youngsters who are stuck in the middle of situationships, casual flings initiated online, and short-lived relationships over text messages. Rohit Saraf headlines the film as a character battling these complexities. Rohit feels that social media has altered the idea of love and relationships; therefore, he says, true love hardly exists. "For me, love is a feeling of being at home, where you can feel safe, and live without any filter," he says.

He has grown up watching rom-coms and finds it comforting to work in the genre. "Rom-com is my safe space and I like to keep returning to it," he says. It gives him joy to watch simple love stories, and he credits Kiran Rao's Laapataa Ladies for championing simplicity in romance. His co-star Jibraan Khan agrees and feels that love should be simple. "I see that it has become rapid these days. There is no stillness left in it," Jibraan says. "People are running away from simplicity that was seen in our older generation. Everyone is in a hurry and I would rather want it to be simple and sweet."

Rohit was just 7 when Ishq Vishk released, and he remembers loving the songs when he watched it some years later. It was also slice-of-life and coming-of-age films that made him want to be an actor. "Wake Up Sid is my most favourite film in that genre and it inspired me the most to take up acting seriously," he reveals. As for Pashmina, who plays one of Rohit's love interests in Ishq Vishk Rebound, it was her cousin brother Hrithik Roshan's 2003 sci-fi adventure, Koi… Mil Gaya that made her fall in love with films. "The first time I felt that I wanted to be in films was when I went to the sets of Koi… Mil Gaya," she says. "I liked being there every day and by the end of it, I didn't want to go back home."

Pashmina admits that being part of an influential family has simplified many things for her. "There's no denying that coming from a film family has made things easy for me," says the actor. She also finds it a privilege to be able to receive feedback from her brother on her craft. "Hrithik has given me plenty of life advice and his honest opinion about my work."

When she auditioned for Ishq Vishk Rebound, she didn't hear back from the makers for over 2-3 months. She thought that she got rejected. "But when I finally heard back from them, the feeling was dreamlike. They hadn't yet confirmed me for the role and had just said, 'It is looking good.' But even that meant the world to me then," she said.

Rejections took a huge toll on Naila Grrewal (Maamla Legal Hai) at a nascent stage of her acting career. In her early days, she would send videos for auditions from Delhi where her mother and sister assisted her. "I mostly got rejected and didn't know how to deal with it," she reveals. She gradually realised that it is important to learn how to cope with it because, otherwise, "you couldn't deal with success either." In the trailer of Ishq Vishk Rebound, Naila is seen to be having a fling with the character of Rohit. She feels that her generation is stuck in two worlds, when it comes to love. "There is that hyper-romantic element attached to it that is built by the early films starring Shah Rukh Khan and Kajol. On the other hand, social media has propelled us to act a certain way in relationships," she says. However, Naila is someone who still gravitates towards the old-school. "I would still want that dreaminess where I am standing in the mountains with my saari pallu floating in the air while a boy runs towards me in slow motion," she says with a smile.
